Bill King II
Director of Publicity

To the Media:

The Milwaukee Bucks would like to welcome members of the media to the Bradley Center. Our entire organization has an appreciation for your efforts and aims, and will assist you in any way possible. In return, the coverage the media has afforded us throughout our years in the NBA has been superb and we appreciate your dedication. The following are some of the services we will provide and some of the things we ask of you to help us run our operation smoothly.

- * Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of the day before the game, 5 p.m. Friday for Saturday and Sunday games, or noon the day of Monday games. Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up at the will-call window off the North Fourth Street entrance. Credentials are good for admittance to the Center, Press Room, and home and visiting locker rooms. Media members holding Bucks' season passes should notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve seating on the press table. The majority of press seating in the Bradley Center is located on the court level. Auxiliary press seating is located on the west side of mid-court below the private suites.

- * The press room is located on court level on the west side of the Bradley Center. The room opens 2 hours before the game. Secure storage of typewriters, coats, and the like is available. We must limit press room usage to members of the media only when valid Bucks' press passes are presented. It is impossible to accommodate family members, friends, guests, or others. The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for bonafide writers, reporters, broadcasters, and game personnel.

- * Both the Bucks' and visitors' locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before game time and ten minutes after the game. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in the locker rooms for post-game interviews. Those newspapers with morning deadlines and TV stations doing live spots should be given preference in obtaining players and coaches. Basically, common courtesy should prevail.

- * Special instructions for all cameramen can be found on the back of the season and single-game photo passes.

- * Pre-game press notes, lineup and scoring sheets, and the current program insert will be available in the Press Room before the game. Programs will be available on a limited basis. Play-by-play, quarter stats, and half-time box scores will be delivered directly to the press table. Please keep sets quarter-by-quarter. A limited number of play-by-play sheets and halftime boxes will be available in the Press Room after the game. Complete final boxes and fourth quarter play-by-plays will be available after the game in the Press Room.

- * The Bucks provide complimentary telecopier service at every home game. Special arrangements to file off day stories or the like can be made through the Bucks publicity office. Randy Vukovich operates the telecopier/facsimile service.

- * The NBA operates a 24-hour hotline during the season. The 800-number is available through the Bucks publicity office.

Cordially,
Bill King II

BUCKS TICKET INFORMATION

TICKETS: $25, $22, $16, $13, $9*, $6* (*$9 and $6 are available for $7 and $5 on 20 Bonus Nights).

TELEPHONE ORDERS: With the use of a MasterCard, Visa, or American Express charge card by calling Teletron at 1-800-843-1558. A service charge will apply.

MAIL ORDERS: Mail orders may be directed to the Milwaukee Bucks Ticket Office at 1001 North Fourth Street, Milwaukee, WI 53203-1312. Mail orders must include the date of game desired, alternate date choice, and check or money order for total amount of tickets ordered. A complete mailing address must accompany all mail orders. A $3.00 handling charge applies for all mail orders.

INDIVIDUAL GAME TICKETS: The Bradley Center box office located on North Fourth Street, and all Ticketron outlets handle the sale of tickets for Milwaukee Bucks home games. The Bradley Center will have four corner sales windows to accommodate customers. Bradley Center box office hours are: Monday thru Friday 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to game time and Sundays two hours prior to game time. Individual game tickets are placed on sale several weeks prior to the home opener.

GROUP ORDERS: Group orders are gladly accepted, and Bucks personnel will cooperate fully with schools and organizations wishing to purchase 25 tickets or more for an individual game. Groups should plan at least four to six weeks in advance to obtain the best possible seats. Arrangements may be made by calling the Milwaukee Bucks ticket office (group orders) at 227-0500.

BONUS NIGHTS: On 20 nights during the Bucks' regular season all regularly priced $9 seats are sold for $7 and all $6 seats are sold for $5. The "Bonus Night" tickets are sold on a first-come, first-served basis to individuals, groups, and organizations, and may be ordered in advance by mail or phone, purchased over the counter, or through Ticketron outlets or Teletron at 1-800-843-1558.

PLAYOFF TICKETS: When the happy occasion arrives, Milwaukee Bucks playoff ticket procedures are announced to the public well in advance of each playoff series. Season ticketholders are always given the opportunity to purchase their regular season locations for the playoffs.

INFORMATION: Up-to-the-minute Bucks ticket information can be received 24 hours a day by calling the Bucks' sales line, 414-227-0500.

BUCKS AND NBA PLAYOFFS SYNONYMOUS

Milwaukee has been a postseason participant in 16 out of 20 seasons including the last nine years in a row (Bucks are tied with Boston with nine playoff appearances in a row and that trails only the L.A. Lakers string of 12). The Bucks have posted an 81-72 record in the playoffs and are one of only five NBA teams with better than a .500% mark in the postseason — along with Boston, L.A. Lakers, Philadelphia and Seattle. In their 16 years of playoff action Milwaukee has garnered one NBA title, while reaching the Finals twice and the Conference Finals on seven occasions.

BROADCAST INFORMATION

Radio broadcasts of all Milwaukee Bucks home and away games are originated by WTMJ, Milwaukee's NBC radio affiliate at 620 on the AM dial. Games are fed to a statewide network of over 30 stations throughout Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Jim Irwin is the "Voice of the Bucks" for the ninth consecutive season. He is joined courtside for 41 home games by Jon McGlocklin who provides analysis.

In addition to a sparkling new playing facility, the Bucks will be seen this season across the state on a new flagship television station. The Bucks and WCGV-Fox 24 are currently in the first year of a three year agreement which provides over-the-air TV rights to Milwaukee Bucks road games to Channel 24. Thirty Bucks regular season road games and as many Bucks playoff games as are available during the 1988-89, 1989-90, and 1990-91 seasons will be aired by WCGV. Thirty games matches the highest number of over-the-air regular season telecasts in club history. WCGV is the flagship station of the Milwaukee Bucks and of the Milwaukee Brewers starting with their 1989 season.

Veteran sportscaster Jim Paschke will call the play-by-play on Bucks telecasts for his third season. Paschke teams with color analyst Jon McGlocklin in bringing the action home.

MILWAUKEE BUCKS FILM LIBRARY AND SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Milwaukee Bucks have an extensive film library available for your school, church, civic or special interest group. Topics of the films range from highlight films of the Bucks, All-Star game highlights and the NBA World Championship Playoff highlights.

The Milwaukee Bucks speakers bureau has front office personnel, members of the coaching staff and players available for speaking engagements. The availability of a coach or player depends upon team commitments pertaining to games and practice schedules. There is a minimum fee of $300 for a player or coach. For complete information contact the Bucks at 414/272-0500.

If you'd like to have a film for a presentation at your school or meeting, simply drop a line on your group's letterhead to Bill King II, Publicity Director, Milwaukee Bucks, 1001 North Fourth Street, Milwaukee, WI 53203-1312. The letter should request the film or films (maximum of two [2] films at one time) with alternate choices and a preferred date for viewing along with a backup date. A deposit check payable to the Milwaukee Bucks in the amount of $25 for each film should be included with the letter. The check will be returned upon receipt of the film or films in good condition. All films are 16 mm with full color and sound unless noted otherwise. The projector and screen are not included. Films must be picked up and returned to the Bucks' office at 1001 North Fourth Street, Milwaukee, WI unless other arrangements are made. Requests must be made a minimum of two weeks in advance. The Bucks have the following films available in their library:

OCEANS is the house band for the Milwaukee Bucks. A Milwaukee based contemporary jazz band, the 1988-89 season marks the fourth season that Oceans has performed at Bucks home games. Last season the NBA recognized Oceans as its "League Band" inviting the group to play at the All-Star game in Chicago resulting in a feature story on ESPN and a spot on CBS during the game.

Oceans has also been featured on NBC's "Today" show and ABC's "Good Morning America". Over the last several years Oceans has been honored numerous times in winning WAMI's or Wisconsin Area Music Awards. The awards include: best bassist, best instrumentalist, and for the last five years, best jazz group.

The group performs regularly in the Milwaukee area and throughout the midwest and is currently enjoying national airplay of its album "Second Chance". The group is presently working on a second album which is scheduled for release this season.

Members of the Bucks house band, Oceans, include Duane Stuermer, bass; Warren Wiegatz, saxophone; Brian Nielsen, keyboards; Mike Standal, guitar; and Ernie Adams, drums.

NBA EXPANSION

The NBA Board of Governors enacted several priorities for expansion from a 23 team league to a 27 team league. First, Charlotte and Miami will enter the league for the 1988-89 season while Minnesota and Orlando will begin play in 1989-90 (the easiest way to remember this is that the teams enter the league in alphabetical order). Second, an introduction period of three seasons (1988-89, 1989-90, 1990-91) was designated during which expansion teams would rotate divisions. This serves a two-fold purpose; to distribute the number of games existing teams would play against expansion teams and to expose fans in the new markets to a variety of existing teams and players. To achieve these goals, some expansion teams will play out of their natural geographic divisions for some seasons during this period. The balance sought would require one expansion team in each conference in 1988-89 and two expansion teams in each conference during the following two seasons. After the three year period, teams would settle into their natural geographic divisions for 1991-92 and beyond. Also, Sacramento shifts to its geographic division, the Pacific, for the 1988-89 season.

An example of this rotating divisional alignment schedule shows Charlotte spending the 1988-89 season in the Atlantic Division of the Eastern Conference before moving over to the Midwest Division of the Western Conference in 1989-90. Miami begins their initial season in the NBA in the Midwest Division of the Western Conference and moves permanently to the Atlantic Division of the Eastern Conference thereafter.

The acquisition of players by the Charlotte and Miami franchises began at the end of the 1987-88 regular season at which time they could begin to sign free agents. An Expansion Draft was held June 23, 1988 to stock the teams. Each existing NBA team was able to protect eight players. Miami and Charlotte alternated selecting one player from each of the existing clubs until one player had been selected from each of the 23 other clubs. Miami selected John Stroeder of the Milwaukee Bucks. Minnesota and Orlando will participate in a similar Expansion Draft prior to the 1989-90 season, although neither Charlotte nor Miami will be subject to having its players selected in that Expansion Draft. Each of the current NBA teams can lose only one player to the Timberwolves and Magic.

In the College Draft, Charlotte and Miami picked immediately after the seven lottery teams at positions eight and nine. When Minnesota and Orlando participate in the 1989 College Draft, they will select tenth and eleventh in the two rounds that comprise the draft.

NBA SCHEDULING PRIORITIES

1. Each team should play two games (one home, one away) versus teams in the opposite conference. This accounts for 24 to 28 games and is always satisfied.
2. Each team should play a minimum of four games (two home, two away) versus teams in the same conference. This results in 44 to 52 games and is always satisfied.
3. Each team should play a maximum of six games (three home, three away) versus teams in the same division. This accounts for 30 to 36 games. The maximum limit is reached for the Atlantic, Central and Midwest Divisions in 1988-89 only. All other divisions play less than the maximum.
4. Any remaining assignments are applied to the opposite division.

CENTRAL DIVISION SUPREMACY

Since 1970-71 when the NBA went to its current alignment of four divisions, on only five occasions have three members of one division been able to record 50 victories in the same season. The Central Division has accomplished that lofty feat in each of the past two seasons. In 1987-88 Detroit was the division winner with 54 victories, while Atlanta and Chicago each posted 50 triumphs. In 1986-87 that trick was turned by Atlanta with 57 wins, Detroit with 52 and Milwaukee with 50. Furthermore, the Central Division had the best composite record of the four divisions in 1987-88 with a .561 winning percentage — the Midwest Division was next at .518%, followed by the Atlantic at .459% and the Pacific at .455%.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record, regardless of division. The First Round is best-of-5 and each succeeding round, including the NBA World Championship Series, is best-of-7.

In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get the home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matchups, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records.* The playoff pairings for the First Round are Team 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Team 1-8 plays the winner of Team 4-5 and the winner of Team 2-7 plays the winner of Team 3-6.

The World Championship Series will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June of 1983 in a vote by the NBA Board of Governors effective in the 1984 Playoffs. The major revisions included allowance for sixteen teams qualifying for the playoffs and the elimination of the first round bye (formerly known as the best-of-3 mini-series) for division winners and inclusion of the First Round best-of-5 series.

Western Conference

Eastern Conference

*Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record, Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURE FOR PLAYOFFS

Following is the tie-breaking procedure that is used to determine teams qualifying for the NBA Playoffs.

Two team ties:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Winning percentage within own conference.
3. Winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Point differential between offense and defense.

Multiple team ties:

1. Cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all tied teams.
2. Winning percentage within own conference.
3. Winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential between offense and defense.

Notes:

1. Any ties involving the championship of a division are broken first.
2. If a multiple-team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, that situation is then resolved by using the procedures outlined for two team ties.

Magic Number:

To determine the magic number add together the total games remaining for both clubs, divide by two, and subtract the number of games by which one club leads another. That figure is for a tie, add one and you get the magic number.

PLAYER PERSONNEL GUIDE

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12, the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular-season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players. Expansion teams may carry 30 players until October 21 when they must cut to 20.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness, must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after midnight on February 23. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

THE BRADLEY CENTER

The Bradley Center, Milwaukee's new, 20,000 seat, sports and entertainment facility opened October 1, 1988. It allows both patrons and participants to experience the finest, state-of-the-art arena in the nation.

Architecturally fashioned after the great coliseums of antiquity, the Bradley Center covers more than a square city block and rises to a height of 13 stories. It is the new home of the Milwaukee Bucks professional basketball team, the Marquette University Warriors basketball team, the Milwaukee Admirals professional hockey team, and the Milwaukee Wave soccer team. It also hosts family shows and musical events.

Team members entering the playing floor or hockey ice from their ground level locker and training spaces will not look up on the traditional one concourse seating bowl found in most modern arenas. Instead they will see three levels of seating surrounding them. Seating on the first concourse slopes down 26 rows from the concourse entrances to the edge of the playing surface. About 9,000 fans can be seated in this lower section.

Above the first concourse a floor of more than 60 private suites encircles the entire arena. Access to this floor is limited to suite holders and their guests. The hockey press box is also at this level.

The third concourse, slightly concave in its design, rises 21 rows to approximately 85 feet above the playing floor. The suite level and third concourse seats about another 11,000 patrons.

Over the players heads and high on the north and south walls of the arena are the latest in sophisticated electronic scoreboards. Players and fans alike may view instant replays in full color and sharp clarity.

For patrons, entering the building and going to their seats is also an experience. Patrons initially pass through one of two large, glass enclosed atriums, 60 feet high, lined with double rows of massive columns. Stairs, escalators and elevators take them to their appropriate concourses, allowing people to view the city from three directions in the process. Eight escalators go to the first concourse, four to the second level suites, and four to the third concourse.

There are no "bad seats" in the Bradley Center. Computer-aided design has ensured clear sightlines to the floor from every chair. There are no pillars to obstruct views. And the high vaulted ceiling will create a feeling of spaciousness wherever a fan is seated.

Fans will find the building divided into four quadrants, each with its own amenities on each concourse or level. Fans seeking food at the liberally supplied concession stands will not have to worry about missing any action. Closed circuit television of the event is provided at each stand.

Patrons with special needs, such as the wheelchair-bound, have seating on the first and third concourses and won't feel separated from the rest of the crowd. There are special keyboard telephones for the hearing impaired. At the two main entrances, one of the bank of eight doors is operated by an electronic touch pad for easy opening by the disabled.

The latest in computerized and electronic controls governs the heating, air conditioning, ventilation, security and communication systems in the Bradley Center. Most of these functions are monitored from a central control room on the ground floor. For instance, the electronic security system will detect a door that is only slightly ajar.

Sporting events are not the only attraction of the Bradley Center. It is capable of housing large family and musical events. In fact, in anticipation of the Center's many uses, the designers provided entryways at the ground level which allow semitrailers to be driven completely inside the building. They are able to unload on the arena floor and then drive out through the opposite entrance.

The latest in electronics and interior circuitry also assist the media. As many as four television stations are able to broadcast simultaneously from any of three locations in the arena. Members of the media may transmit information about Bradley Center events and receive information on sporting events elsewhere on a real-time basis. The Bradley Center is a full-fledged modern communications center.

The sophistication and quality of the building's interior is matched by its outside appearance. The Bradley Center is clad in polished and flame-treated South Dakota granite. The same gray-pink granite is used in the pedestals for the columns in the atriums. The huge vaulted roof is a lead-coated copper dome.

The Bradley Center is a private, nonprofit corporation. The $53 million structure is a gift to the Milwaukee community from Jane and Lloyd Pettit in honor of Mrs. Pettit's father, Harry Bradley. Mr. Bradley was one of the founders of the Allen-Bradley Co., a national manufacturer of electrical controls.

The Bradley Center was designed by Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum of Kansas City, Mo., and Venture Architects, which was a joint venture between the Milwaukee architectural firms of Kahler, Slater, Torphy Architects and the Zimmerman Design Group.

MacGregor — Bucks Basketball Camps Ron Blomberg — Director

Ron Blomberg takes the ball straight to the basket when it comes to describing the MacGregor-Bucks basketball camps.

"Our motto is that the camp is for the campers," said Blomberg, who has spent the last 26 summers with basketball campers. "It's not for the better players, it's not for the counselors, it's not for coaches' egos. Every camper is important. The less-talented young man or lady gets the same attention as those with more talent."

The camps, for youngsters from fourth grade through high school, stress fundamentals and basketball skills, rather than team play, said Blomberg, who works with former South Milwaukee basketball coach Jerry Sullivan on the program.

"In our concept, we set up and try to create an educational atmosphere," Blomberg said. "There are two game segments every day, but we try to downplay that. It's strictly an instructional-type camp."

In addition to general fundamentals, Blomberg said there also are several specialized camps, held from Friday through Sunday.

"We now have big man camps for players 6-foot-4 and over and we also have a guards camp for high school age people," he said. "They run parallel to each other, but then they do join and work together, but it's not a game situation. There's also a tall girls camp and a guards camp."

With the rapid development of girls basketball, Blomberg said more and more girls are attending the camps.

"I think girls are going through what the boys went through several years ago," Blomberg said. "In the beginning, it was just that they wanted to go to a camp and learn the basics. Now, they're getting more sophisticated and want specialized training. So, yes, there has been an increase in interest to the girls area."

To accommodate the needs of a wide range of youngsters, a variety of camps are offered.

Boarding camps are offered at Carroll College in Waukesha, the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, and Wayland Academy near Beaver Dam. Day camps are held at Cudahy, Whitefish Bay, and Wilmot high schools.

In addition, camps are conducted at Alma College in Michigan and Knox College in Illinois.

"We also have what we call a split-day camp at Carroll College at which Jon McGlocklin is involved," Blomberg said. "We have grades 4 to 6 in the morning and grades 7 to 9 in the afternoon. What we try to accomplish here is to introduce the younger players to fundamentals. In the afternoon, we not only bring in fundamentals again, but we also introduce things they should work on, such as individual strengths and weaknesses, and also how to make their junior high, high school, or college team."

The MacGregor-Bucks organization also offers soccer and tennis camps at St. John's Military Academy near Delafield.

One of the most important things for parents to consider is how to judge a camp, especially the ratio of campers to instructors and the background of the coaches, Blomberg said.

"It should never be more than 12- or 15-to-1," he said, adding that a ratio of 10-1 is preferable. "And, who are the coaches? Are they in education? That has to be a criteria because they know how to handle kids."

"What we have here now, is starting with the 9-year-olds, we offer them something all the way through the college years with the specialized camps."

People who would like to discuss MacGregor-Bucks camp opportunities can contact Blomberg at (414) 786-0366.

LIMITED P.T.

When NBA players refer to "P.T." they're talking about playing time. These players have seen the "least" amount of action while in a Bucks uniform: Delmer Beshore (one minute in one game), Linton Townes (two minutes in two games), Mark West (six minutes in one game), Brad Holland (nine minutes in one game), Bob Rule (11 minutes in one game), and Cedric Henderson (six minutes in two games).

LOWEST DRAFT PICK TO PLAY FOR BUCKS

Mickey Davis was the Bucks seventh round draft pick out of Duquesne in 1972. That makes him the lowest Bucks draft choice to play for Milwaukee. The Bucks have had at least three players see action that were never drafted. They are Delmer Beshore, Charlie Criss and Jerome Henderson.

LONG & SHORT OF IT

Randy Breuer at 7'3" is the tallest player to don a Bucks uniform while Charlie Criss at 5'8" is the shortest. Geff Crompton at 290 lbs. is the heaviest while Lloyd Walton at 160 lbs. is the lightest. The Bucks all-time roster lists seven players at 7' or taller and three players at under 6'. That list will grow to eight this year with the addition of 7'1" Tito Horford.

Bucks Strength & Conditioning Program

Just because NBA uniforms do not include helmets and shoulder pads, many people tend to lump basketball along with such things as checkers as a non-contact sport.

But anyone who has heard the thud of a collision in the lane or the screech of a floor burn in the making knows that nothing could be further from the truth.

To that end, the Bucks are one of several NBA teams with a specially designed weight-training program, developed to increase strength and stamina.

The program was designed by trainer Jeff Snedeker and Michael Jelich, the Bucks' strength and conditioning consultant, with input from Coach Del Harris. It was implemented to produce stronger basketball players, not weightlifters or bodybuilders.

"We're talking about specificity of training," said Jelich. "If we were training a body builder, we'd give them a different program. In this program, the players will develop a little bit of lean muscle mass, but they're not going to wind up looking like bodybuilders."

"You train an athlete for the specific sport he or she is involved in," he said. "Basically, we design a strength and conditioning program to meet a player's individual needs."

Perhaps more important than increased strength, is an increase in muscular endurance, Jelich said.

"Stamina is the lay person's term for muscular endurance," he said. "Basketball requires high-intensity performance for a long period of time, which requires a high level of muscular endurance, as well as strength. So there's probably a greater emphasis placed on muscular endurance. A basketball player needs to be strong, but he has to be able to carry that intensity level up and down the court for 48 minutes."

One of the players who serves as role model when it comes to weight training is Sidney Moncrief, Jelich said.

"Sidney understands the relationship of strength to his game and if you watch him play, you'll know why," Jelich said. "He only weighs about 180 pounds but he is constantly going in against guys 6-foot-10 or bigger and sometimes gets beat up pretty good. But he still has enough to take it to the hole and score two points."

Jelich said the move to the Bradley Center will allow the strength and conditioning program to be expanded in terms of equipment and variety.

"We'll essentially be carrying on the same type of program this year that we did in years past," he said. "The body of the program is very good and it meets their physiological needs as basketball players. We'll be carrying over some equipment from the Arena and we'll be adding new equipment to accommodate a few more people."

"We're bringing along the program so it basically accommodates everybody. We have a few young people coming in whom Del Harris thinks are going to make an impact and we want to make sure they get channeled in the right direction from the beginning. If we get the young guys sold on it, we should maintain the continuity we've had in years past."

Jelich said he also would like to possibly use the Bucks' conditioning program as an instructional resource for area high school and college coaches.

Jelich is quick to point out, however, that weight training is a supplemental tool for coaches, rather than a replacement for practice.

"You don't lift weights to become a better basketball player," said Jelich. "You lift weights to become a stronger basketball player. To become a better basketball player, you practice those particular skills."

Jelich, who served as a consultant to the Bucks during the 1984-85 season as well as last season, has a varied background in fitness, weight training, and physical education.

He received his undergraduate degree in physical and health education from the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse and a Master's degree in exercise physiology from Utah State, where he served as a graduate teaching assistant.

Jelich then opted for a somewhat warmer climate, serving as the strength and conditioning coach at the United States Sports Academy in Saudi Arabia.

He also brings his knowledge of physical fitness to the general public as the owner and operator of NuBody Fitness Consulting, designing total conditioning programs tailored to an individual's specific needs.

BUCKS NEARING MILESTONE OF SUCCESS: 1,000 VICTORIES!

Since the inception of the Milwaukee franchise in the NBA in 1968-69, the Bucks have done one thing over and over and over; win. With 42 victories during the 1987-88 season the Bucks victory total climbed to 992, leaving Milwaukee just eighth triumphs shy of 1,000. In 20 seasons of Bucks' basketball the team has averaged an incredible 49.6 victories per season. In breaking that successful 20-year run down further, Milwaukee has recorded four seasons of 60+ wins, 12 years of 50+ wins, while having only four losing seasons.

FRONT OFFICE PROFILES

Herb Kohl President

NBA Commissioner David Stern probably best summed it up when he said, "If it wasn't for Herb Kohl, it most likely would be the Minnesota Bucks right now."

Three years ago Bucks' President Herb Kohl, "spent the highest amount at that point for a basketball team," according to Stern. "He spent a lot of money to keep the team in Milwaukee. He paid first, for the benefit of Milwaukee, and asked questions later."

Stern's comments accurately reflect Kohl's thoughts, intentions, and strong Milwaukee background. While Kohl paid some $18 to $19 million to keep the team here, he reflects, "No, it wasn't the best investment. We didn't know about the new building (the Bradley Center). But I was always interested in sports. I was an original investor in the Brewers and considered being involved in the original purchase of the Bucks. My interest didn't come out of nowhere."

"And three years ago, I had the time to invest in the franchise, and the money, and I could do something nice for the city and state. It was an opportunity to do something for my home town. The Bucks are a Wisconsin institution," continued Kohl. "To see the team anchored here with the Bradley Center will be something that goes on for generations. Moving the team (to another locale) will never happen, at least in my lifetime."

And what of Herb Kohl's first game as Bucks' owner? Well, he walked down to his assigned seats, sat down, and shortly after a fan came in and asked him to leave. She said they were her seats. Kohl left, not wanting to make a fuss. He got the seats back later after the fan discovered she was sitting in the wrong place.

Kohl's unpretentious nature comes forth in his choice of automobile. He drives a General Motors Buick from Sidney Moncrief, who has a dealership in Little Rock, Arkansas. "Sidney didn't need my business," Kohl says with a laugh. "I just wanted to own a Sidney Moncrief car."

Says Kohl, "I grew up in modest, middle-class surroundings, in a home with parents who knew only hard work and the meaning of lasting values taught by example. They taught us hard work, honesty, and the purpose of life beyond money. We learned that success came as a by-product of those. It wasn't the goal."

Kohl, 53, was raised in a lannon-stone house on North 51st Boulevard between Auer and Concordia Avenues, with his brothers, Sidney and Allen, a sister, Dolores, and their parents, Max and Mary. The family grocery store business blossomed to a state-wide chain of nearly 70 grocery and department stores that bears the family name to this day.

Down the street from the Kohls, lived the Seligs. Their son Allan grew up to become president of the Milwaukee Brewers. Herb and Bud have been friends for 38 years, classmates from childhood through college where they were roommates at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Selig relates, "Herb was raised in a family-conscious family. We both were. Family was important. So were friendship, education, working hard, loyalty, and discipline. Herb was very good in school, very good in sports. He was a competitor. He still is."

Concerning the operation of the Milwaukee Bucks' franchise, Kohl notes, "(Vice President-Business Operations) John Steinmiller and his staff run the business end of the Bucks and (Head Coach) Del Harris and his staff run the basketball end of the team. They check with me only in the event something very significant needs to be decided. Some situations I have to make a final decision, but it's not very often. They make the decisions, so I don't feel as though I have the burden of responsibility. I'm just basically one of the advisors."

Kohl's primary business interest these days is the Herb Kohl Investment Company.

"I swim everyday in the morning. I read a lot, not so much books as publications. I read many magazines and five or six newspapers everyday. I have my friends, and occasionally, I'll get out to my ranch in Wyoming," said Kohl.

"I find that my association with the Bucks is very stimulating, said Kohl." "I enjoy talking about the Bucks with those people (Steinmiller and Harris). The Bucks experience isn't a job anyway, it's really something I get great pleasure out of, and so, that helps me a lot to relax and be comfortable."

"My friends, Bucks, swimming, reading, my ranch. -- I'm very fortunate to have all those outlets. I'm one of the luckiest people in the world. My life's been great, and I'm very grateful for it."

Del Harris Head Coach

Del Harris entered his second season as head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks faced with the toughest of challenges — keeping the club consistent through change.

"A year ago, when I first started, we had the second oldest ballclub in the league," said Harris, who is only the third head coach in the 20-year history of the Bucks. "I said then and during the season that we were going to try to keep our team on a reasonably competitive level and still change it over from old to young."

"Obviously, during the years when the Milwaukee Bucks won seven straight division titles, the other teams in our division were cleaning up with those early first-round picks," he said. "We, on the other hand, didn't have as much to show for those drafts. Now, other teams have benefited from the draft and they're good and young. The challenge was to try and stay on top and still meet the necessities of change on your roster without having to go into the lottery."

In Harris' first season at the helm, the Bucks overcame a series of injuries and roster changes to finish with a 42-40 mark in the rugged Central Division, the first time the club failed to win 50 games in eight years.

To make the team younger, Harris engineered a series of moves that resulted in a roster turnover of more than 50 percent — adding such players as Larry Krystkowiak, Jay Humphries, and Fred Roberts — while maintaining the veteran nucleus that propelled the Bucks to the playoffs for the ninth consecutive season.

Harris is confident his trip to the Fountain of the Youth will pay immediate dividends, especially on defense where the Bucks have long been among the league's best.

"We have a very flexible lineup," said Harris. "I thought that was one of the reasons we finished strong last year. But I think we should be able to get out and change our defenses up a little bit more and create more open-court opportunities. I think our overall defensive intensity will pick up this year. We were good on defense last year, but I can see us sustaining a defensive effort even longer this year because of our increased depth."

The infusion of youthful talent was necessary because every team in the already-strong Central Division seemed to get even stronger during the off-season.

"We're in the dogfight division, without a question," Harris said. "We've just got to develop together and play good team basketball. It's just a matter of giving it everything we have as a coaching staff and players."

Another area in which Harris looks for the Bucks to be stronger this season is the coaching staff — Frank Hamblen, Mack Calvin, and Mike Dunleavy — which now has a full year of continuity under its collective belt.

"It's definitely going to be easier for our coaching staff to work together because it takes some time to get totally coordinated," said Harris, who was a Bucks' assistant under Don Nelson before moving into the head coaching spot. "I felt we had a good year last year and that our staff grew and did a very nice job with the draft. We felt we held our team together under some of the most adverse conditions last year."

"I am excited. We are a team that's in a state of change from older to younger, but it's a gradual change," said Harris. "We're hoping that our veteran players will help our young players in areas that they're weak and that the young players can breathe life into the older players."

While Harris is the third head coach in Bucks' history, he is the first to lead a team onto the court of the state-of-the-art Bradley Center. And while Harris is excited about the prospect of playing in the new facility, he admits he'll miss the friendly confines of the Milwaukee Arena at times.

"I think that's one compensating factor," he said of the increased seating at the Bradley Center. "We're going to lose a little homecourt advantage because of the cozy nature of the Arena where the fans were right on top of the players. But we're expecting the enthusiasm of 16,000 to 18,000 fans to more than compensate for that."

When Harris is able to take a few hours away from the rigors of NBA coaching, he and his wife, Ann, can often be found around another local basketball court, watching Harris' daughter, Carey, 18, who is expected to spend her second season with the Marquette University women's basketball team.

Harris said, however, that his youngest son, Stan, 19, would not be on the hardwood this season, having to sit out the year while transferring to North Texas State from Eastern New Mexico, where he was a red-shirted freshman.

Harris' two oldest sons, Larry, 25, and Alex, 24, already are making their respective marks with a pair of Fortune 500 companies. Larry, who graduated cum laude from Eastern New Mexico, is working with the Wiatt Corp. in Dallas, while Alex, who graduated magna cum laude from Hardin Simmons University, works with I.T.T. in Denver.

John Steinmiller Vice President-Business Operations

The Milwaukee Bucks' move to the Bradley Center is giving John Steinmiller a challenge he readily and capably accepts.

Steinmiller, the Bucks' Vice President of Business Operations, has spearheaded the club's increased marketing efforts due to the move to the 17,000-plus seat Bradley Center. The Bucks filled the Milwaukee Arena, which seated 11,052, to capacity nearly 95 percent of the time over two decades.

Steinmiller, 39, hopes the Bucks can eventually reach a similar mark at the Bradley Center.

"Our goal is to increase our overall attendance," John said. "Our goal is to draw more people this year and get more sellouts eventually."

To do so, the Bucks have bolstered their marketing staff and increased advertising.

"It's important for us to broaden our season ticket holder base and our casual fan base — those who come 3 to 5 times a year," he said. "We hope to bring more people in on a consistent basis."

However, Steinmiller knows the longstanding success the organization has had on the court is the key to an additional fan base.

"We will attempt to put not only a good product on the floor but in an exciting manner," Steinmiller said. "We hope to transfer what has been an important home court advantage in the Arena to the Bradley Center."

Steinmiller graduated from Marquette University in 1970 and became an administrative assistant, handling duties ranging from ticket sales to publicity work. In 1972, at the age of 22, he became the youngest publicity director in pro sports.

He held that position until 1977 when he was promoted to handle the team's business operations. In 1980, he was named to his current position.

"It's always a challenge," he said. "There are new twists and turns every day. The ultimate goal is to win the world championship. That is the goal not only for the players but for our entire staff."

Steinmiller, a native of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, is a graduate of St. Viator High School. He serves on the board of the Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAACC) Fund and is an officer of Big Brothers-Big Sisters. He is also a member of the Sales and Marketing executives of Milwaukee.

Steinmiller's hobbies include tennis and following all sports. He and his wife, Corinne, live in Shorewood with their six-year-old son John Henry and three-year-old daughter Mary Kate.

Bob Zuffelato Director of Player Personnel

Bob Zuffelato has had a marked influence on the Milwaukee Bucks future as the result of his first year as Director of Player Personnel.

Zuffelato, who has more than a quarter century of coaching experience, made roster moves that have helped the club since arriving in September of 1987.

"Talking to Del Harris and the coaching staff, it was obvious we were one of the oldest clubs in the league," he said. "I think we have made some good moves to help our club. We brought in Larry Krystkowiak, Jay Humphries, and now, Jeff Grayer. They all have a bright future in the league."

Zuffelato was instrumental in the Bucks' 1988 draft of Grayer, Tito Horford, and Mike Jones.

"I felt we had a good handle on the draft," he said. "I'd been all over the country looking at collegiate talent. We do a really good job of researching other teams and knowing who they are going to draft. That really helps, and I felt the draft was a strong draft for us."

Before joining the Bucks, Zuffelato spent nearly a year as an associate of prominent sports attorney, Bob Wolff of Boston, Massachusetts. Prior to that, he served as an assistant coach with the Golden State Warriors from 1983 to 1986.

Prior to the NBA, the Torrington, Connecticut native spent ten seasons as a collegiate head coach during which he compiled a 160-121 record with Boston College and Marshall University. Bob began his coaching career as the assistant freshman basketball coach at the University of Michigan in 1959. He also coached at the high school level and as an assistant coach at the collegiate ranks.

"When you put 27 years into one thing, it's always going to be a part of you," Zuffelato said. "I've been away two years and it's getting easier. There are times when I'm right into the game and feel like I never had left."

However, he enjoys his "new" position.

"When I came to Milwaukee I told Del I was looking for an organization that was a proven winner and that's what I got," he said. "I love it. It's a great organization. I am extremely happy to be with the Bucks."

Zuffelato and his wife, Donna, are the parents of three sons, Scott, 26, Glenn, 22, and Greg, 18.

Frank Hamblen

Assistant Coach

When it comes to basketball "lingo," Frank Hamblen knows his stuff. This past summer, however, Hamblen had to overcome a different type of basketball language.

The Bucks' second-year assistant coach traveled across the Atlantic to Italy to help coach a week-long basketball camp of 320 athletes, ages 8 to 20.

Hamblen was not only impressed with the rapport he was able to develop with the players, despite the Italian language barrier, but also with the popularity of the game in Europe.

"Obviously the level of talent is better in the United States, but the Europeans are really not that far behind," said Hamblen, who has spent 20 years in the NBA as an assistant coach.

"I don't think they start at an early age or stick with it as long, or work as hard at it as we do, but the enthusiasm is unbelievable. Basketball is a growing sport in Europe. It's a close second to soccer. It was amazing how you could overcome the language barrier to work toward the common goal —basketball," he said.

After the camp Hamblen enjoyed his first visit to Europe by taking a week vacation to places like Venice, Innsbruck and Munich.

Hamblen also enjoyed his first season with the Bucks and is looking forward to the one ahead.

"It was really an exciting year (1987-88) to be with one of the top organizations," said the coach. "We have some fine players and our coaching staff meshed well together."

Hamblen has been associated with many fine coaches in his career since he graduated from Syracuse University, where he played basketball and was captain his senior year.

Following graduation, the Terre Haute, IN, native worked under Pete Newell as a scout for the San Diego Rockets in 1969. He followed the Rockets move to Houston in 1971 and stayed until joining the ABA Denver Rockets in 1972 as assistant coach and director of player personnel.

When Larry Brown became the team's coach, he retained Hamblen.

Hamblen visited Milwaukee as Brown's assistant in 1977 for the NBA All-Star game. Brown, then coach of the Denver Nuggets NBA franchise, had won the right to coach the Western All-Stars and Hamblen assisted him.

After spending part of the 1977-78 season as a freelance scout, Hamblen was hired by the Kansas City Kings. He stayed with the franchise through three different coaches — Cotton Fitzsimmons, Jack McKinney and Phil Johnson — and moved with the team to Sacramento in 1985.

Then Del Harris called in the summer of 1987 and requested Hamblen's services.

"As an assistant you're an extension of the head coach and, more or less, a check and balance of the system," explained Hamblen. "He (Harris) wants our input. Of course, he has the final say, but he's very good at giving us leeway and letting us do our thing."

Hamblen feels his time will come when he can do his "thing" as a head coach in the NBA. He certainly knows the "lingo."

Mack Calvin

Assistant Coach

Hard work, determination, and a sense of accomplishment characterize Mack Calvin's progress from a professional basketball player to a Milwaukee Bucks assistant coach.

"What I'm most proud of is the fact that I am now coaching professional basketball at the highest level you can be in organized basketball," Calvin said. "I came from a family of ten. I was 5'11", and I was drafted in the 12th round by the NBA in 1969 by the Los Angeles Lakers. I was not supposed to make it at this level.

"I reflect back in terms of where I came from, the steps, the hard work, and dedication it took for me to get to this level, not only as a player, but also now, as a coach."

A stand-out player at the University of Southern California, Calvin applied his craft, averaging 16.1 points and 4.8 assists a game, for eleven seasons in the ABA and NBA. Calvin's resume also includes coaching at the high school and college levels along with a touch of professional coaching experience.

While with the ABA, Calvin played for the Los Angeles Stars, Miami Floridians, Carolina Cougars, Denver Nuggets, and Virginia Squires. Calvin was a rookie standout with the Stars and named to the ABA's All-Rookie Team.

A premier passer and five-time ABA All-Star, Calvin led that league in assists in 1975. In addition, he was named ABA's Co-Player of the Year along with Julius Erving. The 1975-76 season marked Calvin's debut in the coaching ranks when he was named interim coach of the Squires.

Calvin's NBA career includes stops with the Los Angeles Lakers, Denver Nuggets, Utah Jazz, and Cleveland Cavaliers. During the 1980-81 season, Calvin functioned as the Cavaliers' player-assistant coach. Calvin took two more coaching steps before joining the Bucks. First came a stint as coach at Cherry Creek High School in Englewood, Colorado. Then he spent one season as an assistant coach at the University of Virginia.

Now in his second season with the Bucks, Calvin appreciates the opportunity to learn with some of the best in the NBA, especially his long-time friend Del Harris.

"The people I'm surrounded with are people that have been in the business a long time," Calvin said. "I have a tremendous amount of respect for Del Harris as a head coach and as a person. I've learned an enormous amount of basketball from him, Xs and Os."

Ever mindful of where he has been, Calvin still focuses on where he eventually wants to be.

"My drive is to some day be a head coach in the NBA," he said. "I think that I need to continue to prepare myself, pattern myself after some of the top coaches, like Del, Chuck Daly, and Pat Riley, coaches I respect a great deal at this level."

"I see myself working extremely hard and learning my craft, the same way that I did when I played ball.

"When I was a player, I patterned myself after Jerry West or Oscar Robertson or a guy like Archie Clark," said Calvin. "Those are the kinds of guys that are role models that I look up to. I try to put myself in that posture, and be like them."

An avid runner, Calvin spends his free-time relaxing, reading the works of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, listening to music, and "kicking back" at home with his family. Calvin's wife, Gale, is a fifth grade school teacher. They have a teenage daughter, Christy, and reside in Bayside.

Mike Dunleavy Assistant Coach

An assistant coach in the NBA can expect to work quite a bit, especially during a grueling 82-game season. Mike Dunleavy has one full year under his belt as an assistant coach for the Bucks and knows the feeling.

But Dunleavy also knows that working as an assistant coach is a key to life for him, something he enjoys.

Before coming to the Bucks as a guard late in 1983, the Brooklyn native worked amid the financial world on Wall Street. Prior to his stint on Wall Street, he played with three different teams in the NBA.

Dunleavy has played professional basketball, worked away from basketball, and coached. Because he cannot play the game anymore due to a back injury, and because he loves the game of basketball, he is very happy to again be involved in the game.

How did his first year as a full-time coach go compared to working full-time on Wall Street?

"The difference between basketball and Wall Street for me is the fact that basketball isn't like work," said Dunleavy. "It's something I love to do. Even though the hours are a little more in basketball, it's something that is not work but enjoyment. (But) I enjoyed working on Wall Street. If you have to have a job, it's a great place to be."

How did his first year as a full-time coach go compared to playing full-time?

"The first thing you don't realize as a player is how many hours go in behind the scenes," explained Dunleavy. "It really takes a lot to stay on top of things."

"As a player, you have direct control of what you can and can't do, as a coach you don't. You make substitutions to try and get to that point, but it's tough," he said.

During his playing days, Dunleavy was often referred to as a "coach on the court." At 6-3, he was a smart player, who understood all facets of the game. He also burned opponents with his outside shot which produced a career shooting percentage of 46.8.

Dunleavy's pro career began after he starred for four years at South Carolina. The Philadelphia 76ers drafted him in the sixth round of the 1976 draft.

Mike played the 1976 season and part of the 1977 season before he was waived by the Sixers. He then served as a player-coach for the Carolina Lightning of the now defunct All-American Basketball Alliance during the 1977-78 season.

The Houston Rockets signed Dunleavy in March of 1978. He played four years in Houston, all under the guidance of Del Harris. Harris served as head coach of the Rockets from 1979-83.

In 1982, Dunleavy was signed as a free agent by the San Antonio Spurs. After playing with the Spurs, Mike went back to New York to work on Wall Street, but the Bucks, rattled by injuries at guard at the time, called late in 1983. Dunleavy played 17 regular season games and 15 playoff games for the Bucks in 1983-84.

Dunleavy averaged a career-high 11.2 points a contest in those games with the Bucks. He finished his career with an 8.1 scoring average and 1,713 assists, an average of four per game.

He was re-signed by the Bucks for the 1984-85 season. But after only 19 games, he injured his back when a plane, arriving in Baltimore, made a sudden lurch. The injury ended Dunleavy's playing career.

After the back problem, Dunleavy went back to Wall Street to join the "team" at Merrill Lynch as the head of marketing and program training. But when Harris became head coach of the Bucks in 1987, Mike came back to basketball and Milwaukee.

Mike and his wife Emily reside here year-round with their sons Michael (8), William Baker (6) and James (1). During the summer, Mike enjoys playing tennis, reading and relaxing.

Dunleavy also lectures to youth at summer basketball camps.

Larry Riley Scout/Video Coordinator

Larry Riley's work ethic and dedication to the game of basketball doesn't surprise those that know him.

"Larry is a hard-working, intelligent coach and an outstanding communicator," Head Coach Del Harris said of the Bucks' new scout-video coordinator. "He'll do an outstanding job in our video work on which we put a high priority."

Riley, the head basketball coach at Eastern New Mexico University the past ten seasons, handles three major tasks for Milwaukee.

He is responsible for videotape analysis of the Bucks and their opponents, college scouting assignments and occasional NBA scouting, as well as the preparation of video scouting tapes of college prospects.

"My own analytical style of coaching fits in well with what Del expects, plus I used a lot of video to evaluate ENMU's ball club in terms of offense and defense," Riley said.

A former University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee assistant basketball coach under Charles Parsley from 1970-73, Riley works with Bucks' Director of Player Personnel, Bob Zuffelato, in a coordinated effort to evaluate college players with NBA potential.

"Being a college coach for all those years, I've watched the NBA players advancing with such great talent," he said. "However, coaching talent has exploded right along with it."

Riley, who also has coaching experience at the high school and junior college levels, has known Harris for quite some time.

The professional relationship between Riley and Coach Harris stretches back two decades to when Larry's brother, Mike, who now coaches the Rapid City franchise in the CBA, was Del's assistant coach at Earlham College.

"When the friendship started out twenty years ago, we never thought it would turn out this way. We just never really lost track of each other," said Riley who even coached Harris' two sons, Larry and Stan Harris, at ENMU (NCAA Division II).

Larry and his wife, Renae, have two children, Ryan (12) and Ashlee (4). Renae, an honors graduate from Eastern New Mexico University, is an elementary school teacher. Larry is the founder and president of People's Awareness, an anti-drug program in Portales, New Mexico.

"I thoroughly enjoyed the city of Milwaukee when I was an assistant coach at UWM," Riley said. "My wife and I are concerned about having a nice environment for our family to grow up in and Milwaukee makes me feel very comfortable."

Jeff Snedeker Trainer & Traveling Secretary

Moving into a brand new arena is a first for the Bucks but a third for Jeff Snedeker.

Snedeker, who is now in his 26th year as a professional trainer and has been with the Bucks since 1979, also witnessed the grand opening of Shea Stadium and Giants Stadium.

"I'm really excited about it (the Bradley Center)," said Snedeker. "It's the third new stadium that I've gone to in my career. I closed the Polo Grounds in New York City in 1963 and entered Shea Stadium as a brand new thing, and then entered a brand new Giants Stadium in 1977."

Snedeker was the trainer for the New York Jets when the Jets moved into Shea in 1964. He was with the New York Cosmos when the soccer team took the field at Giants Stadium at the Meadowlands in New Jersey.

Like the previous new stadiums he's been associated with, Jeff had his say about the design of the training facilities at the Bradley Center.

"You get a chance to help plan it and build things the way you like to have them as opposed to something that's been there for years and years," explained Snedeker, who has had the unique experience as a trainer in three different professional sports. "We were limited with the amount of space we had. I would have made the Taj Mahal of sports medicine but it wasn't possible."

What was possible is very much to Snedeker's delight.

"The weight training facilities are immediately adjacent to the locker room and training room where we can supervise through our window as opposed to running halfway across the building," Snedeker said. "The facility itself is twice as big as what we have had so it should be very conducive to what we're trying to do."

Snedeker's main job is to help keep everyone on the team healthy. Last year proved to be a good one in terms of injuries sustained by the Bucks.

"It was a relatively good year," said Jeff. "We had (Sidney) Moncrief return after major surgery in about three months and he played well after that. The guys who made the major contributions to the team were not injured. Basically we had a pretty healthy year."

The 52-year-old sports medicine expert has put in more than 30 total years as a trainer in athletics and has three championship rings to his credit. He worked with the Jets for 14 years and received his first ring when the Jets won Super Bowl III. He received two more rings when the Cosmos won consecutive outdoor soccer championships in 1977 and 1978.

Aside from his work with the Bucks, Snedeker owns S.P.O.R.T. Clinic of Greater Milwaukee, Inc. with offices in Wauwatosa and Brown Deer.

The Yonkers, New York native has a Master of Science degree in athletic training from Indiana University. He has lectured on physical education at Barnard College in New York while also teaching graduate courses in sports medicine.

Snedeker belongs to the Great Lakes Athletic Trainers' Association, the American College of Medicine, and is the treasurer of the NBA Trainers' Association.

Jeff also serves as the team's traveling secretary. He handles all travel arrangements including airlines, hotels, and buses.

"I've met some great people," said Snedeker. "I've been fortunate enough to have been with three championship teams and I've been around the world twice. I always tell people that it's better than working. I still enjoy doing this even after all these years. I look forward to every season."

Jeff lives in Whitefish Bay with his wife Joy. They have four daughters: Cheryl, Connie, Karen, and Cathy. In the offseason, they spend time in upstate New York.

Bill King II Director of Publicity

Credit Bill King II with an assist even when the Milwaukee Bucks are idle. As Director of Publicity, King's efforts won't show up in the boxscore, but rather in his deft handling of the information flow about the Bucks. All season, King's passing keeps the print, radio and TV media informed and makes Milwaukee's NBA fans some of the most knowledgeable in the league.

"The central focus of everything that happens is geared towards what's inside the four lines on the basketball court," King said. "We in the front office lend to that philosophy and try to enhance it."

King's publicity office prepares press releases, the Bucks' personnel profiles, and assists in Milwaukee's participation in the NBA draft. During the season, the responsibilities for the HOOP game program, up-to-date player and team statistics, courtside demands, and the regular season and playoff media guides add to King's work load.

King and his assistant Jim Grayson, also schedule the many public appearances by Bucks' personnel. Players, coaches, business staff, and even Bango, the team mascot, are directed to charity events, sports-talk programs, interviews, and commercial endorsements by the publicity office.

"We're all working together, as much in the front office as a team, to put things together from a business aspect," said King. "The further you go in the playoffs, the harder you work because of the greater concentration of media requests."

Whether it's the NBA playoffs or last year's inaugural McDonald's Basketball Open, an international tournament, King takes care of the media requests and publicity demands with the distinction that has twice earned him honorable mention as the top PR director in the NBA's Eastern Conference.

"One of the challenges that I'm really looking forward to is going to be the move to the Bradley Center. The ability to go into this premier facility is going to be great. From the offices to the court, it should be a super addition to the Milwaukee Bucks."

When King joined the Bucks eleven years ago and became the youngest publicity director in professional sports, he capped a career that always featured some dabbling in sports promotion.

"PR work was always kind of a sideline for me, all through high school and college. I was the sports information director in college in part to work my way through school" he said. "Originally I was going to be an optometrist."

King, 33, was once the youngest full-time sports information director in the nation while at Morris Harvey College (now the University of Charleston) in Charleston, West Virginia. Before hooking up with the Bucks in 1977, King served as Tulane University's Assistant Promotions Director and functioned as the Jersey Shore Summer Basketball League's publicist and statistician.

Bill, his wife, Shelley, and their 1½ year old daughter, Bentley, reside in Oconomowoc. He relaxes by playing basketball or, weather-permitting, jet skiing on Lac La Belle, a beautiful lake outside the family front door. King also serves as a judge and official of the International Jet Ski Boating Association.

Bea Westfahl Ticket and Office Manager

Bea Westfahl has been the Bucks' office and ticket manager for more than 20 years and 1988 has definitely been one of her busiest. The reason — the Bradley Center.

The changeover from the Arena to the Bradley Center is the biggest challenge I've had in 21 years," Westfahl said, as she sat behind her desk surrounded by paper work on a July afternoon last summer.

Westfahl and her staff of eight began working on the changeover soon after it was known that the Bucks were going to play their home games a block north at their new facility.

Throughout the spring and summer she either talked over the phone or met in person with each season ticket holder to determine seating arrangements.

"This summer was hectic," she said. "I just wanted everybody happy, that's all."

Westfahl and her staff process the mail, handle over-the-counter and group sales, and provide other customer services to the Bucks' season ticket holders. She also coordinates the Bucks link with the computerized Ticketron outlets.

Westfahl joined the Bucks' staff near the end of the 1968 season, after nine years as head of concessions and grandstand operations for the Wisconsin State Fair.

She is a charter member and serves on the Board of Directors of Box Office Management International (BOMI), a "think-tank" for those working in the ticket industry. Comprised of arenas, stadiums, theaters, universities, coliseums, and concert halls, BOMI deals with advance management techniques, exchange ideas, and the latest technological advances in ticket sales.

Born in Wauwatosa, Westfahl was raised in West Allis and resides most of the year in Milwaukee. During summers, she and her husband, Don, a retired Milwaukee fireman, live on Tichigan Lake. She commutes from their lake home to the Bucks' office.

In between arranging the new seating assignments for the season ticket holders, she took time out this past summer to play golf and walk.

A former music teacher, Westfahl taught piano and voice. She still loves music and plays the piano when time permits.

Bea and her husband have three sons and two grandsons.

Chuck Reupert Controller

Chuck Reupert has been the Milwaukee Bucks controller the past seventeen seasons but numbers aren't his only game. Chuck is an avid race car driver and finished seventh in the Valvoline Championship in Atlanta this past summer.

He has been racing around the nation for more than 25 years and is a former Class D Midwest Champion. He now races up to 15 times a year between April and October.

"I just like to drive," Reupert says. "It gets into your blood."

Reupert attended Milwaukee Tech High School, the University of Wisconsin-Madison and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. He served as a third officer in the U.S. Maritime Service in World War II and was an infantry leader in Korea.

Chuck and his wife, Susie, live in Milwaukee with their 14-year-old son, Sean. He also has twin sons, Mike and Mark, that reside in the Milwaukee area.

Steve Harms Sales Coordinator

You'll find Steve Harms hard at work long before the Milwaukee Bucks hit the floor in NBA action.

As the Bucks' sales coordinator, Harms helps plan the marketing and promotional strategies that keep this Central Division franchise playing to a packed house. Now with the move into the 18,000 seat Bradley Center, this 28-year-old Wisconsin native and the Bucks' staff face the toughest test of their business acumen.

"The Bradley Center increases our jobs tenfold because there are 7,000 extra seats to sell for every game," Harms said. "That requires us to do everything we've been doing, plus another 100%. We have a great sales tool in the Bradley Center, so it helps us meet the challenge."

That NBA attendance is climbing every year comes as no surprise to Harms who from 1983-85 functioned as one of the Detroit Pistons' best salespersons. From his past experience selling the spacious Silverdome, to filling the 11,052 seats at the Arena, Harms sees the Bucks' new home as a great opportunity for fans in Milwaukee and across the state to come and watch professional basketball at its best.

"We've been at the 11,000-plus mark for the last three seasons at the Arena. Last year we sold out every game, but three, and just missed a completely soldout season by about 1,000 tickets," said Harms.

Harms, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin — LaCrosse, said that after being with the Pistons a year he had found his vocation in life.

"I started out with the Pistons in 1983 and probably would still be with them if it weren't for the Bradley Center being announced and the acquisition of the team by Herb Kohl.

"Detroit was a good situation, but the promise for expansion of responsibilities was greater here in Milwaukee. It's a challenge and opportunity that's not presented to everyone. I was fortunate to be with the Pistons and work my way up."

Planning group nights, marketing the Bucks as great entertainment to the state and to the local community's many corporations and businesses, and arranging half-time shows keep Harms and his sales staff in a state of full-court press.

"When I can look out in the stands and see the targeted amount of seats filled, I know that our job was accomplished," he said. "We've been extremely fortunate here to have a winning team for such a long time and we still have one. Playing competitive basketball is the key."

Steve and his wife, Lori, are expecting their first child in January and live in Germantown. Harms, an avid sports enthusiast, counts on golf, tennis, basketball, and racketball for relaxation. He and his wife also enjoy camping in northern Wisconsin during the off-season and traveling to the Rocky Mountains.

Rita Huber Executive Secretary

Rita Huber has left the Halls of Justice for the courts of wood.

Before joining the Bucks' front office, Huber spent almost two years working for two federal judges at the United States Federal Court system here in Milwaukee.

As the executive secretary to the Bucks' Vice President of Business Operations, John Steinmiller, and head coach, Del Harris, this Cashton, Wisconsin native said she couldn't be happier.

"It was something that I have wanted to do for a long time," she said.

Huber joined the Bucks in August just as the team and front office were gearing up for the 1988-89 NBA season and the transition to the palatial Bradley Center.

"It came as a total surprise when John Steinmiller called to tell me that I had the job," Huber said. "But, I am very happy to be back with the people that I already knew. I'm just going to do the best I possibly can, and take learning the new responsibilities one day at a time."

From 1978 to 1984, Huber was a legal secretary with Davis and Kuelthau, the law firm that represented the Milwaukee Bucks. From March, 1984 to January, 1985, she joined SportsVue, a cable television sports channel that carried the Bucks' games and other athletic events.

A graduate of Western Wisconsin Technical Institute in LaCrosse, Huber has also served as the corporate counsel secretary for Sta-Rite Industries.

Huber's chief responsibility is to continue the smooth transition game between the basketball team and front office that is so characteristic of the Milwaukee Bucks.

Huber handles a variety of tasks that go beyond the normal, everyday secretarial assignments.

"I take care of the travel arrangements for our rookie camp, do player relations work, assist with the arrival of new Bucks' personnel and their living requirements, correspondence. Things like that."

Rita is single and resides in Milwaukee. In her free time, Huber's year round hobby is riding and caring for her horse, Gypsy.

Fr. Gene Jakubek, S.J. Chaplain

Fr. Gene Jakubek certainly keeps busy, whether he's coordinating one of his many projects or offering spiritual and psychological help to the Milwaukee Bucks when it's needed.

Fr. Gene regularly works 20 hour days, sleeping from 1 a.m. to 5 a.m., and touches millions of people through television and charity programs. His project HELP (Happiness for the Elderly, Lonely, and Poor) reaches nearly 200,000 people.

About 2,400 volunteers work through HELP to feed and clothe the less fortunate.

"I have many different programs," Fr. Gene says. "My days are spent doing a lot of corresponding and a lot of counseling. They see me on the local tube and write."

"The Answer Is Love" — Fr. Gene's television show — has originated from Milwaukee for more than 20 years and reaches millions of viewers. It is shown on WITI-Channel 6 in Milwaukee at 10 a.m. Sundays and again at 5:15 a.m. Thursdays.

In addition, Fr. Gene broadcasts the "Eternal Word TV Network" from Birmingham, Alabama and reaches millions more that way. He also gives retreats and talks across the country and does a great deal of marriage counseling.

"I haven't taken a vacation in 35 years," Fr. Gene says. "I just get pleasure doing this work. Make somebody happy and it makes you happy too."

He also enjoys his work with the Bucks, calling it a "diversion" from his other activities.

"I really enjoy bringing people to see the Bucks," he says. "I'm able to take them and they love it."

Tom Hoffer Equipment Manager

He works with computers. He works with videotapes. He works as a distributor. And, yes, he also works as the Bucks' equipment manager. He is Tom Hoffer.

"If something odd comes up, it usually comes across my desk," explained Hoffer, who started working with the Bucks in 1973 as a ball boy and has been equipment manager since 1976.

"That's what I enjoy most about my job — variety. There are new tasks and challenges all the time," he said.

Hoffer oversees a team of eight ball boys, two video assistants (who videotape all of the home games), and the Bucks' mascot, Bango.

It's not, however, unusual for Hoffer to help about 30 high school kids inflate 5,000 basketballs for a promotion night, coordinate the taping of over 500 NBA games and 500 college games every season, and train the Bucks' coaches to use a state-of-the-art computer editing system.

"My primary responsibility is to handle all of the team and coaching staff equipment needs as far as anything from training supplies to uniforms," said Hoffer. "But my job has expanded over the years where I'm now in charge of all the video equipment and videotaping for the scouting."

He takes care of logistics and details and is responsible for the distribution of items at all of the Bucks' promotion nights.

"We can inflate 5,000 basketballs in a little over four hours," Hoffer said. "But they physically take up a lot of space. The hardest promotion we've ever had was Junior Bridgeman growth charts because they were 6½-feet long and we had to roll 3,000 of them. It took us forever and they were cumbersome to move."

Hoffer, 31, took on a new task last season in training the coaches how to use the computer editing system, the only organization in the NBA with such a system. It allows coaches to edit segments of a videotape to illustrate strengths or weaknesses of individual players or teams.

"It saves many hours and is very versatile," said Hoffer. "We used it extensively for the playoff coverage and for evaluating college talent for the NBA draft. The coaches use it to break down information and I troubleshoot."

Hoffer keeps busy throughout the year. In the off-season, he works with the basketball staff at the Bucks' rookie camp and other team-related activities. He also directs the Bucks' annual presence at Summerfest.

Tom recently bought a duplex in the Bay View area of Milwaukee where he also resides with his new canine friend, "Bob."

Jim Irwin Voice of the Bucks

Jim Irwin was probably called for traveling more times than anyone else in the NBA last season.

The long-time voice of the Bucks on WTMJ-Radio, Irwin also handles play-by-play for the University of Wisconsin Badgers' football team and the Green Bay Packers for WTMJ. He also can be heard filling in on Milwaukee Brewers broadcasts on occasion.

"I think last year I traveled about 60,000 miles. A fan figured it out, based on all of my trips in one year," said Irwin, who joined WTMJ in 1969 as color man for Wisconsin football broadcasts and took over the play-by-play the following year.

As the Bucks' play-by-play announcer, Irwin said he believes his job is to make the fans feel as if they're in the front row.

"I'm really the conduit between the fan and the game. If he feels emotion from me, then he's going to feel the emotion of the game. And that, after all, is what you're listening for, to get the excitement, feeling and direction of the game," said Irwin, who has been broadcasting Bucks games for eight years. "If I'm a little bit down, the fans will be a little bit down. If the Bucks are down by 10 points and then get a couple of baskets, I trust the fans would feel the hope that springs from that."

Because Bucks' fans comprise his listening audience, Irwin said he tries to broadcast the game from their point of interest.

"I don't mind the term 'homer,' " said Irwin. "Play-by-play announcers are not pure objective reporters—they never have been and never will be. The duller broadcasts I've ever heard are the ones where the broadcasters aren't really for one side or the other."

In addition to his hectic travel schedule, Irwin also handles the early morning sports report on WTMJ radio from 5:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and delivers a daily sports editorial, "Viewpoint," on a variety of topical subjects.

Whitefish Bay is the home for Irwin and his wife, Gloria, who is involved in public television as a producer. They have a daughter, Anne, who is a public relations arts counselor in New York City, and a son, Jay, who is a senior at Northwestern University.

Despite his well-worn suitcase, Irwin said he's not quite ready to quit logging those frequent-flyer miles.

"I always felt hard work was its own virtue," said Irwin. "If I thought that by doing as many things as I do detracted from my work, I would cut back. And, it's a lot more pleasurable to do work you like than work you don't like. I feel very fortunate that I've been able to do that."

BUCKS ATTENDANCE RECORDS TUMBLE FOR SECOND STRAIGHT YEAR

When the final buzzer sounded at 10:33 p.m. on Friday, April 22, 1988 and the Bucks had seized a 118-109 victory over the New York Knickerbockers, Milwaukee's NBA franchise concluded its most successful season at the gate since the inception of the team in 1968. Through 41 regular season games during the 1987-88 season the Bucks drew a total of 452,057 fans to the Milwaukee Arena for an average of 11,026 and a percent of capacity figure of .998 which includes 38 of 41 sellouts and a streak of 34 straight to close the season (last non-sellout was November 30 vs. Indiana). The Bucks missed a complete sellout all season long by just 1,075 tickets. Through the 1986-87 season the club missed a complete sellout for the entire season by just 2,145 tickets.

Here are the new all-time marks and the records they beat: Total attendance (452,057 beating the '86-87 mark of 450,987), average attendance (11,026 beating the '86-'87 mark of 11,000), percent of capacity (.998% surpasses the previous best of .997% set in the 1979-80 season when the capacity of the Arena was 10,938—the house expanded by 114 seats for the 1980-81 season).

Here's a chart depicting the Bucks history of wins and losses along with attendance figures in the Milwaukee Arena.

	Games	Wins	Losses	Winning %	Attendance	Sellouts	% of Capacity
Regular Season	791	582	209	.736	8,123,038	430	.935
Playoff	69	44	25	.638	749,014	64	.983
Total	860	626	234	.728	8,872,052	494	.956

Note: Including a total of 104,172 fans drawn over eleven years of the annual MACC Fund pre-season game (9,470 average for the fund raiser), the Bucks have drawn a total of 8,876,224 fans just 23,776 shy of the nine million mark in club history. The MACC Fund games figures include a two game total of 21,273 from the 1987 MACC Fund game held in conjunction with the McDonald's Basketball Open. Pre-MACC Fund pre-season game attendance records are still being researched. It is likely the inclusion of those figures will increase the 8.9 million figure and in all likelihood push it over the nine million mark.

Jon McGlocklin Color Analyst

In the jargon of NBA basketball, Bucks' color analyst Jon McGlocklin has mastered the "transition game," comfortably shifting from the television to radio microphone.

"Actually, there is quite a bit of difference between the two, although when I work the games, I don't necessarily feel it," said McGlocklin. "With radio, you have to be quicker and more succinct in what you're saying. Get in and get out so the play-by-play announcer can cover the action. With TV, you can take more time and be more detailed in describing what you want to discuss because you don't have to get out of the way of the play-by-play announcer."

Although it took a while to get used to sliding back and forth between the two styles, McGlocklin said now he hardly thinks about the differences.

"Now, it's like shooting a basketball. I never had to think about how I did it," he said. "Broadcasting's the same way. I guess I'm unconsciously aware of the effect with TV where you can take more time."

It seems hard to believe that "Johnny Mac" has been affiliated with the Bucks for more than two decades. McGlocklin joined the Bucks as a player in the 1968 expansion draft, concluding a highly-successful career in 1976 that earned him No. 14 jersey a spot among those retired by the club.

Since then, McGlocklin has worked home games with Jim Irwin on WTMJ radio and now teams with Jim Paschke on TV broadcasts.

Based on his long affiliation with the Bucks, McGlocklin realizes the tremendous advantages presented by the new Bradley Center, but also admits to a tinge of sadness in the move.

"I think it's exciting to see the growth of the city, especially in terms of a beautiful new building and what it can do for the stability of the Bucks in the city," he said. "But there's a lot of nostalgia in leaving the old building. That's been the only place I've been for 20 years. That's where we won the World Championship and it's where I played my first game as a Buck."

In addition to basketball, McGlocklin is almost as well-known for his tireless efforts as president of the Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAACC) Fund, an organization which he co-founded when he retired as a player.

McGlocklin, who lives in Greendale with his wife, Pam, son, Shannon, and daughter, Meghan, also is vice-president of the Bando-McGlocklin Capital Investment Co. Inc., a partnership operated with former Milwaukee Brewer, Sal Bando. The pair also operates the Bishop Woods I real estate trust.

But the balancing of broadcast duties along with business commitments, charitable work and family life are just all part of McGlocklin's successful "transition game."

BRIDGEMAN JERSEY #2 RETIRED JANUARY 17

Junior Bridgeman, the 6'5" swingman who played more games in a Milwaukee Bucks uniform (711) than any player in team history, was honored on January 17, 1988 when the Bucks retired his familiar uniform number 2. Bridgeman retired from professional basketball at the conclusion of the 1986-87 season after 12 years in the NBA including ten with the Bucks. His jersey became the fifth number retired by the Bucks in the twenty year history of the franchise. Oscar Robertson's number 1 was retired March 26, 1974; Jon McGlocklin's number 14 was retired September 17, 1976; Brian Winters number 32 was retired October 28, 1983; and Bob Lanier's number 16 was retired December 6, 1984.

Bridgeman originally came into the NBA as a first round draft pick of the Los Angeles Lakers in 1975 out of the University of Louisville. Milwaukee acquired his rights as part of the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar trade on June 16, 1975.

Over 10 seasons Bridgeman earned a reputation as one of the most popular players ever to don a Milwaukee Bucks uniform. On the court he was rated as one of the top "sixth" men in the game and saw double duty as a swingman playing both the guard and forward positions. He ranks among the all-time Milwaukee Bucks career leaders in no less than 11 statistical categories. They are: first in games played (711); fourth in field goals made the fifth in field goals attempted (4,162-8,131); fifth in free throws made and attempted (1,588-1,891); fifth in points (9,892); fifth in steals (607); sixth in minutes played (18,044); seventh in rebounds (2,642); ninth in assists (1,787); and 10th in scoring average (13.9).

Jim Paschke considers himself fortunate because his job as the Bucks television announcer requires him to cover more than 30 road games per season.

He considers himself even more fortunate, however, in that he gets to attend Bucks' practices and home games because he enjoys it.

"I still think it's the greatest job in the world," said Paschke, who is entering his third season as the Bucks' play-by-play announcer. "Now, it's a matter of refining what I do in terms of what I can bring to the fans."

To that end, Paschke can usually be found at a Bucks home game, watching the crowd as well as the game. That enables him to bring Bucks fans a "home game" feel, even when the team is on the road.

"That's one of the obstacles you have to overcome," Paschke said. "The crowd is always working against you on the road. You have to work around and above that and realize that the fans at home are rooting for the Bucks and you have to keep them informed. That's why I go to the home games. It helps me keep a feel for what fans respond to and how they view the Bucks."

Another aspect of NBA life that Paschke has gotten a feel for is the demanding travel schedule.

"I think you have to learn the ins and outs of travel to prevent it from getting in the way of the job you have to do, the same as a player," he said. "You have to pay attention to those things or it will catch up with you. You have to make the adjustment to travel and that is as much work as anything in this job."

Paschke, a former sports reporter and sports director at WITI-TV 6 in Milwaukee, teams with Jon McGlocklin on Bucks' telecasts.

"Jon is the easiest guy in the world to work with," said Paschke, who also is the Milwaukee Brewers' play-by-play announcer on TV. "We just sit down and click as we have from the beginning. That's what makes it work, makes it fun for us and, hopefully, enjoyable for viewers."

Paschke and his wife, Debbie, a reporter for WITI-TV 6, reside in the Milwaukee area and are the proud parents of infant son, Michael, who will help the Bucks gear up for the playoffs by celebrating his first birthday in April.

CHARLOTTE, MIAMI SELECT 23 PLAYERS IN NBA EXPANSION DRAFT

The Charlotte Hornets and Miami Heat selected 23 players in the NBA Expansion Draft conducted on Thursday, June 23, 1988, and also completed several trades as they prepare for their initial NBA season.

The Miami Heat, selecting first, obtained a 1988 first-round draft pick from the Dallas Mavericks' for agreeing to choose Arvid Kramer off the Mavericks' unprotected list. Kramer played last season in West Germany and has not competed in the NBA since 1980.

The Charlotte Hornets used the second pick in the Expansion Draft to select guard Dell Curry, a two-year veteran who averaged 10 ppg for the Cleveland Cavaliers last season.

In addition to Dallas' first-round pick, Miami obtained three other draft choices — the Lakers' No. 2 in 1991 or 1992 for taking Billy Thompson, the Knicks' No. 2 in 1988 (which belonged to Boston) for taking Fred Roberts, and the Sonics' No. 2 in 1988 for taking Kevin Williams.

Three trades were made immediately following the Expansion Draft. Miami, after selecting Darnell Valentine from the LA Clippers, traded the veteran guard to Cleveland for a second-round draft pick in either 1990 or 1992, and after selecting Fred Roberts from Boston traded the veteran forward to Milwaukee for a 1988 second-round pick. Charlotte, meanwhile, traded Mike Brown — whom it had picked from Chicago — to Utah for forward Kelly Tripucka.

Following are the 23 players selected and the order in which they were chosen in the NBA Expansion Draft, which was held by conference call between the Charlotte Hornets, Miami Heat, and the NBA.

MIAMI

1. Arvid Kramer (Dallas)
3. Billy Thompson (LA Lakers)
5. Fred Roberts (Boston)
7. Scott Hastings (Atlanta)
9. Jon Sundvold (San Antonio)
11. Kevin Williams (Seattle)
13. Hansi Gnad (Philadelphia)
15. Darnell Valentine (LA Clippers)
17. Dwayne Washington (New Jersey)
19. Andre Turner (Houston)
21. Conner Henry (Sacramento)
23. John Stroeder (Milwaukee)

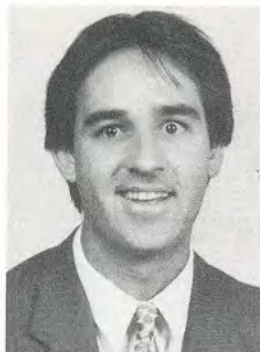

CHARLOTTE

2. Dell Curry (Cleveland)
4. Dave Hoppen (Golden State)
6. Tyrone Bogue (Washington)
8. Mike Brown (Chicago)
10. Rickey Green (Utah)
12. Michael Holton (Portland)
14. Michael Brooks (Denver)
16. Bernard Thompson (Phoenix)
18. Ralph Lewis (Detroit)
20. Clinton Wheeler (Indiana)
22. Sedric Toney (New York)

When Drafted	: First round by Milwaukee in 1983 (18th overall)
Pro Experience	: Currently in sixth NBA season
Residence	: Brookfield, Wisconsin

'87-88 Regular Season: Breuer became a respected NBA pivotman and shed his label as a project during the 1987-88 campaign ... set new career season standards for scoring average, points, rebounds (offensive and defensive), minutes played, FGM, FGA, FTM, FTA, and games started — in addition shattered his single game bests for points (33), rebounds (17), FGM (14), FGA (21), FTM (10), and FTA (11) ... Breuer was one of the NBA's most improved players and was one of the top seven vote-getters for that particular NBA award won by Portland's Kevin Duckworth ... just missed scoring 1,000 points for the year with 968 markers ... boasted averages of 12.0 ppg and 6.8 rpg (well above his four year career marks of 6.3 ppg and 4 rpg) ... paced the Bucks in blocked shots with 107 — second time with better than 100 for the season ... also ranked second in FG% on the club at .495% which is the second best effort of his career ... Bucks' success was somewhat reliant on Breuer's play — the team was 29-20 when he scored in double figures, 15-5 with double digit rebounds, and 23-13 when he had 10+ FGA ... entering the '87-88 campaign Breuer had a single game rebounding high of 15 but topped that four times in '87-88 ... also entering the '87-88 campaign he had personal best of 19 points but eclipsed that 12 times ... scored double digits 49 times and snared 10+ boards on 20 occasions — in his first four seasons combined he topped 10 points 84 times and 10 caroms 12 times ... averaged 27.9 minutes of action (compared to previous career best of 21.9) ... Among his top performances was a solid defensive job on Kareem Abdul-Jabbar the night the Lakers' star had his streak of 787 double figure scoring games snapped ... moved into fifth place in Bucks history for blocked shots (ahead of Elmore Smith) in game #8 against Sacramento — finished the year with 404 career swats ... entering the '88-89 season Breuer is only 94 boards shy of replacing Curtis Perry for the 10th spot in team history ... tallied his 2,500th NBA point in game #51 vs. Indiana — also logged his 5,000th minute and appeared in his 300th game in '87-88 ... on December 2, 1987 Breuer erupted for a career high 33 points at Detroit ... career rebounding high came January 17 against Cleveland with 17 caroms ... Other noteworthy facts are that Breuer missed just one game during the season (game #30) despite being plagued by bruised ribs (which later were diagnosed as broken) for more than one month ... sustained the rib injury vs. Indiana January 2 ... at that point he was averaging 15.8 ppg and 8.6 rpg on a team high .526 FG% (25 games) — then was injured and the next 16 games sported figures of 10.8 ppg and 6.1 rpg on .429 FG% ... came off the bench in the club's last six games with marks of 3.3 ppg and 2.7 rpg in 12.8 mpg ... in his 73 starts for the year he recorded 13.0 ppg and 7.3 rpg ... led the club in scoring six times, rebounding 18 times, and steals nine times ... finished the year with 16 double-doubles for points and rebounds.

Playoff Profile: Has been a post-season performer during each of his five seasons in the NBA — has played in 50 playoff battles with 16 starts ... during the 1988 playoffs Breuer scored at a 4.8 clip in four outings (11.8 mpg) ... shot .563% from the floor in last year's post-season and for his career has a decent .519 playoff FG% — other career totals read 4.9 ppg and 2.9 rpg in 13.8 mpg ... best second season play occurred in 1986 when Breuer tallied 8.4 ppg and averaged 4.3 rpg and 1.3 blocks per outing — started all 14 playoff games that year ... also set post-season highs in 1986 with 21 points and nine rebounds.

College: Two time AP and UPI All-Big Ten selection at the University of Minnesota ... in four seasons as a Gopher he amassed career statistics that ranked him second on the school's all-time scoring list with 1,777 points (behind the Los Angeles Lakers' Mychal Thompson with 1,992) and seventh on the all-time rebounding list with 730 ... voted Minnesota's MVP as a senior ... led the Big Ten Conference in scoring with 377 points (20.9 average) and blocked shots with 54 (3.0) his senior season ... ranked second in rebounding (167/9.3), third in field goal percentage (139-238/.584%) and ninth in free throw percentage (99-124/.792%) in the Big Ten ... as a freshman he led Minnesota to the National Invitational Tournament and was named to the All-Tournament team ... played with the NIT All-Star squad in Europe ... carried a young Gopher team back to the NIT in 1983 ... played on Aloha Classic team in 1981 ... recipient of the CBS-TV Chevrolet MVP game of the week award for his performance against Iowa 1/27/83 ... received Minnesota's Big Ten Conference Medal of Honor in 1983 ... named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-District Team (NCAA Area Four) in 1983 ... maintained a "B" average in his four years at Minnesota.

High School: Led tiny Lake City (Minnesota) High School to two straight Class A championships ... selected Mr. Basketball in Minnesota his senior year ... named to Parade Magazine's Prep All-American team.

Personal: Randy, his wife Wendy, and their infant son Kevin James (6/29/88) live in suburban Brookfield ... Randy devotes his time to several charitable organizations, in particular the Leukemia Society — he does an annual free throw contest for the society on the Henry Maier Festival grounds at the lakefront ... strongly supports the MACC Fund ... the family has a doberman pincher that goes by the name of Sweets ... during the off-season Randy golfs and spends time working on the family farm in Lake City, Minnesota ... parents are Ralph and Marlene Breuer.

'87-88 Regular Season: Continued to be one of the NBA's most productive scorers and accentuated that by netting his 10,000th NBA point — reached that milestone on March 24 in a contest at Phoenix ... scored at a 21.3 clip and for the fifth time in six NBA seasons led his club in scoring ... has now topped the 20-point barrier in five of six years and in each season tallied at least 1,600 points ... played in 76 contests and paced the club in points 38 times ... reached double figure scoring in all but two games; topped 20 points on 44 occasions and the Bucks were 26-18 in those outings while getting 30+ eight times with the club going 6-2 in those tilts ... a proven durable performer despite problems during his rookie season with arrhythmia (irregular heartbeat) which medication now controls ... appeared in 183 straight regular season contests before sitting out game #14 at Detroit with a strained lower back that bothered him for more than a month ... was absent from five games due to the bothersome back and then missed one other game later in the season ... in four years with Milwaukee, Cummings has missed only nine games — in six NBA seasons has been sidelined only 17 times due to injury or illness ... has played at least 2,500 minutes in each year in the League ... averaged 34.6 minutes per game during the '87-88 season and that stands as his high with the Bucks ... Had a good shooting year finishing with a .485% mark from the field but could have been better — injured his back in game #9 at Seattle and was plagued by that injury for about six weeks, yet missed only five games over that span ... during that 13 game stretch his shooting was affected as Cummings struggled with a .392 FG% (18.8 ppg) ... discounting that portion of the season he canned a respectable .506% ... topped .500% from the floor 43 times and .600% 15 times ... two best stretches of the season came from game #27 through #35 (21.2 ppg and 7.7 rpg on .559 FG%) and from game #41 through #50 (26.4 ppg and 6.8 rpg on .557 FG%) ... during that span from game #41 through #50 T.C. topped 30 points four times including back-to-back season best 36 point efforts ... statistically speaking Cummings was second on the club in rebounds with 7.3 per outing, but that marks a career low ... snared at least 8.5 rpg in his first five seasons ... also had career lows for steals with 78 and blocked shots with 46 ... when grabbing at least eight rebounds the club recorded a 19-18 slate ... had 17 double-doubles for the year in points and boards and the Bucks featured a 10-7 record in those games; in previous two years had a total of 58 double-doubles ... for the third straight season T.C. shot under .700% from the free throw line connecting on just .665% ... in his first three seasons he shot .723% from the free throw line but in the past three is at .661% ... in addition to leading the club in scoring 38 times, Cummings also paced the team in rebounds 24 times, assists six times and in steals on 16 occasions ... it was a year of milestones for Cummings as, in addition to scoring his 10,000th point, he managed his 4,000th rebound (game #55) and 1,000th assist (game #17) ... also continues to climb the Bucks' career leaders lists — appears on seven of those charts with the highest spot being second in scoring average at 21.4 ppg ... also ranks seventh in FTA and rebounds while holding down the eighth position in FGM, FGA, FTM, and points ... ranks tenth among active NBA players in scoring average (22.0).

Playoff Prospectus: The 1988 post-season was Cummings' fourth straight year that he improved upon his regular season scoring average ... raised a 21.3 ppg clip from the '87-88 regular season to 25.8 ppg in the 1988 playoffs (five outings) ... has paced the Bucks in playoff scoring in each of the past four seasons and in 39 career playoff contests features a 23.6 scoring average on the strength of a .525 FG% and .717 FT% (all those marks are better than regular season career numbers) ... has always been a potent playoff performer and other averages include 8.8 rpg, 2.6 apg, 1.4 spg and 1.0 blocks per outing (all post-season experience has come with Milwaukee) ... topped the Bucks in points four times in five games during the 1988 playoffs scoring a high of 30 points on two occasions — shot exceptionally well from the floor at .562% ... has now netted 919 points during playoff action and with 81 more will become the fifth player in Milwaukee history to reach the 1,000 point plateau ... best playoff performance came in his first year with the Bucks in 1984-85 when he averaged 27.5 ppg and 8.8 rpg on shooting marks of .577% from the field and .828% from the line — had his NBA scoring high in 1985 post-season with 41 points.

NBA Career: All-NBA Second Team, 1985 ... NBA All-Rookie Team, 1983 ... Named the NBA's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1982-83, a year in which he ranked 10th in the League in both scoring (23.7) and rebounding (10.6) ... became the first rookie since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in 1969-70 (then Lew Alcindor) to rank in the top ten in both categories ... led the San Diego Clippers in scoring the first two years of his career ... was the Clippers first round draft pick in 1982 and second overall behind James Worthy of the Los Angeles Lakers ... missed 13 games as a pro in his first two seasons (12 as a rookie and one during the 1983-84 season) — five of those games were due to a contract dispute and eight due to a disorder called arrhythmia (irregular heartbeat) ... he is now taking medication for the disorder and has it under control ... in his rookie campaign he led the Clippers in scoring, rebounding, field goals made and attempted (684-1,309), offensive, defensive, and total rebounds (303-441-744), and steals (129) ... was second in free throws made and attempted (292-412), blocked shots (62) and total minutes (2,531) ... has scored 20 or more points 301 times in his NBA career and 30 or more 54 times ... established a playoff career high of 41 points against Philadelphia in game #2 of the 1985 Eastern Conference semifinals ... career high for rebounds in a game is 24, set three times (@ Indiana, November 9, 1982, @ Utah, January 5, 1983, and vs. Washington, January 9, 1987).

College: Joined the NBA as an underclass eligible following his junior year at DePaul ... led the Blue Demons in rebounding all three seasons and in scoring his junior year with a 22.3 mark ... was second on the club to Mark Aguirre in scoring his freshman and sophomore seasons ... was a consensus All-American (First Team) following his junior season ... while at DePaul, the Blue Demons posted a 79-6 record.

Personal: Coordinated the Third Annual Terry Cummings VIC Charity All-Star Basketball Classic played in the Milwaukee Arena August 27 ... the game featured over twenty NBA stars including Michael Jordan, Mark Aguirre, Charles Oakley, Spud Webb, and current and former Bucks Paul Pressey, John Lucas, and Jerry Reynolds ... proceeds from the fund-raiser and other fund-raisers Cummings organizes benefit VIC (Victory in Christ), a non-profit charitable corporation formed in 1987 ... VIC acts as an umbrella foundation to raise funds to promote the social, educational, health, athletic, and cultural opportunities of inner city youth in Milwaukee and Chicago ... it was a busy "off-season" for Cummings as he also traveled extensively speaking to bible camps, church and youth groups spreading the word of God ... is an ordained Pentecostal minister/evangelist ... is wrapping up production of a contemporary gospel record album ... envisions developing a recording studio and sound stage in the Milwaukee area to produce a variety of projects for both himself and as a commercial endeavor ... carries a portable electronic keyboard/synthesizer with him on Bucks road trips during which he composes songs ... interestingly, Cummings did not begin to concentrate on the sport of basketball until his sophomore year in high school when he began to shoot up to his present 6'9" height — as a youngster his favorite sport was hockey and his favorite team was the hometown Chicago Blackhawks — he and his friends traveled around the ice rinks maintained by the Chicago Parks District and he's proud of the fact they were nearly unbeatable ... stays at his playing weight of 235 year round ... since he monitors his weight he claims it only takes about a week for him to get into playing shape ... prepares for the NBA season by either swimming, jumping rope, or bicycle riding — concentrates on one particular form of exercise before each season and alternates from year to year ... Terry and his wife Vonnie have two sons — Robert Tyrell, known as T.J. (8/31/81) and Sean (6/24/86) ... the family vacationed in Hawaii to escape the Wisconsin heat ... signed a four-year contract with the Bucks May 19, 1988 that guarantees Milwaukee of his services through the 1991-92 season.

'86-'87 Regular Season: The importance of having #4 in the lineup was once again apparent but for the second straight season injuries put a damper on Sidney's effectiveness... in his first seven NBA seasons (which included five All-Star appearances and two-time Defensive Player-of-the-Year honors) was sidelined for a total of 36 games — in the past two years he has been absent from 69 contests due to injury or illness... in '87-'88 Sid missed 26 games... had surgery on November 20, 1987 to remove a large fragment of bone at the top of his left knee cap (bone spur) and was on the injured list from 11/5/87 until 12/11/87 — missed the first 17 games of the season due to the injury... was sidelined for another three December contests due to tendinitis in his left knee while his other six absences came in March of 1988 due to a nagging sore neck and shoulder injury... a healthy Moncrief spells success, however, as he eclipsed 20 points on five occasions during the season and three of those came in succession... contributed 10.8 ppg, 3.6 apg and 3.2 rpg for the season... had his lowest scoring average since 8.5 ppg in his rookie season... appeared in 56 contests with 51 of those coming as a starter... reached double figures 29 times and led the Bucks in scoring on four occasions — also paced the club in assists 11 times and steals four times... finished the year with 41 steals and 12 blocks (only lower totals came in 1986-'87 when Sid was limited to 39 outings)... was in the lineup for the first time on December 11, 1987 against Portland... started slowly and in his first 17 contests averaged 8.9 ppg, 3 rpg and 2.4 apg in 22.3 mpg... exhibited his many talents in the next 18 games (from game #38 thru #55) with numbers of 14.3 ppg, 4.2 apg and 3.5 rpg in 29.6 mpg... was sidetracked again in game #56 @ Detroit when a nagging shoulder and neck injury flared up — in 14 March games he was absent from six and in other eight had marks of 7.3 ppg in 19.4 mpg... recorded a .489 FG% mark for the year on the strength of two hot streaks — from game #38 thru #47 he nailed 55-101 FG's for .545% and then from game #68 thru #76 he converted 43-69 for a potent .623%... topped .500% from the floor 29 times in 56 outings... topped his average career percentage from the free throw line at .837% — in his first 15 games Sid shot .667% from the free throw line but from there made 132-148 (.892%) the rest of the way... now ranks on every career leader list for Milwaukee except blocked shots... stands first in FTM and FTA; second in games played, assists (would have been first but was passed by Paul Pressey), steals, and minutes; fourth in rebounds and points; and sixth in FGM and FGA.

Playoff Profile: Second leading playoff scorer in team history with 1,396 points — only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar has more with 1,692... is first in Bucks history with 79 playoff appearances... has been a post-season participant in each of his nine pro seasons and has played in at least five games during each of those years... career playoff marks are a very productive 17.7 ppg, 5.4 rpg, 3.8 apg and 1.2 spg in 37.4 mpg — has canned .479% from the floor and .807% from the charity stripe... best post-season came in 1985 when he exploded for 23 ppg on a sterling .556 FG% and .933 FT%... second best scoring output occurred in 1987 when he struck for 19.4 ppg despite an injury-plagued regular season — during the Eastern Conference semifinals vs. Boston that year he had playoff career scoring highs in back-to-back games (33 and 34 points)... started all five playoff games in 1988 and provided 15 ppg (third on team) and 5.2 apg in 34.6 mpg — sizzled from the free throw line with 26-27 marksmanship for .962%.

NBA Honors: All-NBA First Team, 1983... All NBA Second Team, 1982, 1984, 1985, 1986... NBA Defensive Player-of-the-Year, 1983 and 1984... NBA All-Defensive First Team, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986... NBA All-Defensive Second Team, 1982... NBA All-Star 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, and 1986.

'87-88 Regular Season: Enhanced his reputation as a potent scorer for the Bucks and was the third leading scorer on the squad at 16.4 ppg — had a shortened season due to a contract dispute and was on the suspended list from the start of the season until February 8... came off the bench in all 37 of his appearances and for the third straight season was one of the NBA's top bench scorers... was the 1986-87 NBA Sixth Man-of-the-Year and in 1985-86 was runner-up for that award... in four seasons with the Bucks has supplied 15.4 ppg and that ranks ninth on the club's career scoring average list... topped .500% shooting from the field and .850% from the charity stripe for the third straight season... has shot better than 50% from the floor in each of his four years in Milwaukee... led the club in FG% for the second straight year with a fine .510% mark while finishing second on the team in FT% with an equally impressive .877% mark... topped .500% from the field 20 times and .600% 11 times... missed more than one free throw in a game just three times... going into the 1988-89 season needs just 13 FTM and 87 FTA to move into the 10th spot in both categories on Milwaukee's career lists... also ranks third in Bucks history in FG% at .531% and FT% at .865%... started his season on February 9, 1988 against Cleveland and in his initial four games was red hot scoring 18.3 ppg on a sizzling FG% of .617... tailed off a bit with 12.6 ppg on a subpar .422% mark from the field in his next 14 outings but was plagued during that stretch by a bruised tailbone (was sidelined due to that injury for two games, not in succession)... regained his typical form over the last 19 outings with 18.7 ppg on .584 FG% shooting... for the year also added 2.2 ppg and 2.0 apg to the Bucks' attack in 26.1 minutes of playing time... passed for his 500th assist in game #52 and tallied his 4,000th NBA point (all but 770 of those with MKE) in game #51 at Indiana... paced the Bucks in scoring eight times — reached double figure points in all but five games... topped the 20-point mark on 15 occasions with a high of 29 in game #63... missed the final game of the year due to illness.

Playoff Prospectus: Has 38 playoff appearances to his credit in the past four seasons, all with Milwaukee — scored in double digits in three of those seasons and overall sports a 12.4 mark on .475 FG% and an .846 FT%... was most prosperous in 1987 when he netted 15.9 ppg in 12 outings — set his playoff scoring high that year with 29 points in game #3 of the Eastern Conference semifinals vs. Boston... also in the 1987 playoffs Ricky tied a Milwaukee club playoff record in the first round vs. Philadelphia with 17 FTA's (made 14 of those, which along with the 17 FTA are personal bests)... in addition to 12.4 ppg in 38 playoff games he has averaged 2.5 rpg and 1.6 apg in 24.8 mpg... scored at an 11.8 clip in the 1988 playoffs (five games) on shooting marks of .472% from the field and .889% from the free throw line — set a career playoff best for rebounds with seven vs. Atlanta in game #5 of the first round.

College: Was the second leading scorer in the NCAA Division I during his senior year at Rice University with an average of 26.8 ppg... played his final three seasons of college ball at Rice after one year at Walla Walla Community College in Walla Walla, Washington... was Rice's leading scorer and rebounder all three years he played there... set school marks for most field goals (314), scoring average (26.8), free throws made (177), and points (805) in his senior campaign... was named to the United States Basketball Writers First Team All-American squad, Basketball Weekly's Second Team, and AP Third Team in his senior season.

Personal: Ricky and his wife, the former Joyce Wright, split their off-season time between Milwaukee and Garland, Texas... Joyce rejoined the Fifth Dimension last year as their lead singer and has traveled extensively with the group both in the United States and abroad — on occasion Joyce thrills Bucks fans with her rendition of the national anthem.

When Drafted	: First round by Milwaukee in 1982 (20th overall)
Pro Experience	: Currently in seventh NBA season
Residence	: Milwaukee, Wisconsin and Tulsa, Oklahoma

'87-'88 Regular Season: Became the Bucks' all-time leader in assists on March 16, 1988 at New Jersey when he notched the 2,480th feed of his career, topping Brian Winters . . . Paul reached that mark in 441 games compared to 582 games for Winters . . . led the club in feeds for the fourth straight season and topped 500 assists for the third time in his six seasons (is now at 2,589 feeds) . . . paced Milwaukee in assists 47 times and the team posted a 32-22 slate when Paul recorded six or more feeds . . . because of his many assets, the Bucks normally struggle with Paul absent — missed seven games in '87-'88 and the Bucks went 2-5; missed 21 games in '86-'87 and the club went 8-13 . . . in six pro seasons he has been sidelined for only 36 games . . . in addition to leading the club in feeds with 7.0 apg, Paul was also tops in steals with 112 while ranking fourth in scoring at 13.1 ppg and rebounding with 5.0 rpg . . . led the team in scoring 10 times, rebounds six times and steals on 26 occasions . . . recorded over 100 thefts for the fourth straight year . . . Bucks were 10-3 when Paul eclipsed 20 points, 17-10 when the snared at least six rebounds, and 21-13 with two or more steals . . . boasted a FT% of .798% which was the second best mark of his career — averaged 3.8 ppg from the free throw line . . . had a career low for blocked shots with 34 . . . reached double figures on 54 occasions and the Bucks went 30-24 in those battles . . . was a more potent scorer in the first half of the year . . . averaged 14.8 ppg in the first 41 games and during that stretch topped 20 points 11 times — in the second half of the season scored at an 11.0 clip with two 20+ outings . . . recorded the club's only triple-doubles of the year — totaled 18 points, a season high 13 rebounds and 10 feeds in a loss to Chicago in game #17; then recorded 16 points, 11 assists and 10 caroms vs. Houston in game #25 . . . also had ten double-doubles for points and assists and another two double-doubles for points and rebounds . . . reached season-best 25 points on two occasions while high for assists was 14 in game #69 vs. New York . . . tallied the 5,000th point of his career in game #36 — also recorded 2,000th rebound in game #60 and played in his 400th contest in game #19 . . . topped .500% from the field 42 times and finished with a respectable mark of .491% (was over .600% 25 times) . . . exhibited best marksmanship from game #36-#49 when he connected on 70 of 122 field goals for .574% — scored 14.1 ppg during that span. Firmly Entrenched in Bucks History: Is first in team history in assists but that doesn't come close to measuring Paul's impact on the Bucks . . . appears on no less than 11 Milwaukee career leaders lists . . . ranks third in club history for steals; sixth in FTM, FTA and blocks; eighth in minutes played; ninth in games, rebounds and points; and 10th in FGM and FGA.

Playoff Performances: With 64 post-season outings under his belt, Paul trails only Sidney Moncrief (with 79) in Bucks history . . . has been in the NBA playoffs all six years of his career with marks of 12.1 ppg, 5.8 apg, 4.4 rpg and 1.5 spg in 30.8 mpg — has been even more of a force in the past four playoff seasons with impressive numbers of 15.1 ppg, 7.9 apg and 4.8 rpg . . . in five outings against Atlanta in the 1988 playoffs he supplied 14 ppg, 6.6 apg and 3.8 rpg while shooting .460% from the field (two notches below his career playoff figure of .481%) . . . top scoring output came in 1986 with 16.1 ppg in 14 outings — single-game high came in 1987, though, when Paul struck for 28 points vs. Boston in game #7 of the Eastern Conference semifinals.

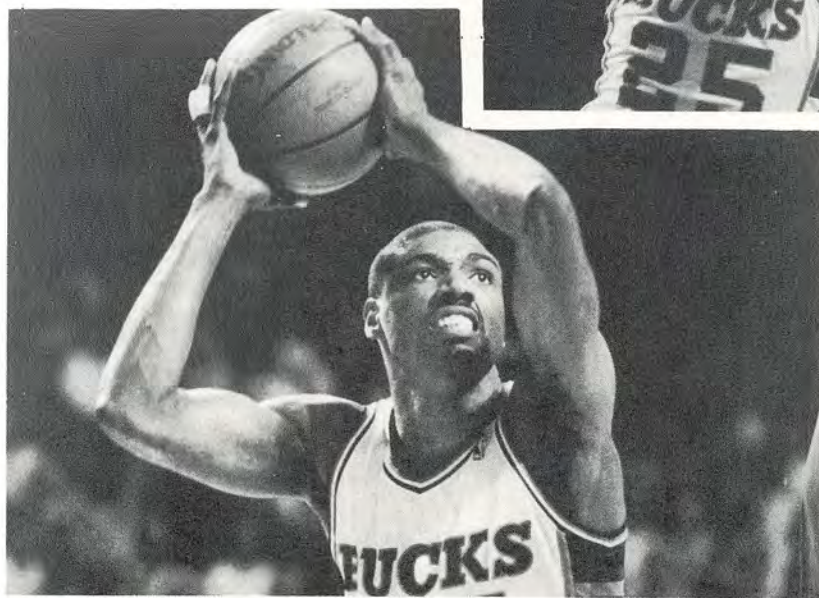

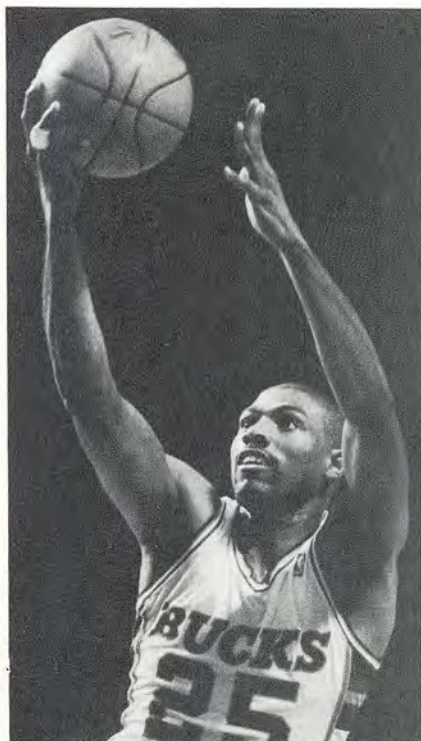

College: Voted second team All-American by UPI and third team All-American by AP during senior year at the University of Tulsa . . . named Missouri Valley Conference Player-of-the-Year in 1981-'82 and was twice named to the All-MVC First team . . . was selected for five different all-star games: the Coaches' East-West game, the Athletes-in-Action game, the Pizza Hut Classic, the Aloha Classic and the Sertoma Charities game . . . led Tulsa to its two winningest seasons in history, 26-7 and the NIT Championship during the 1980-'81 campaign and 24-6 and an NCAA tourney berth for 1981-'82 . . . paced the Golden Hurricanes with a 13.2 scoring clip . . . led the nation in steals with 96 during his junior year and responded with 95 thefts his senior season . . . set NIT record with six steals against UTEP and then topped that with seven against West Virginia . . . Pressey set or tied seven game and career records at Tulsa for steals . . . hit for 31 points vs. Oklahoma for a single-game high . . . at the NIT, he thrilled the Madison Square Garden crowd when he drove, hung in mid-air, and faked twice bringing the ball all the way around his body before slapping it to a teammate for an easy layup . . . added such honors as Sports Illustrated Player-of-the-Week, and All-American selection by the United States Basketball Writers Association, and National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Junior College: Led Western Texas Junior College to a 37-0 JUCO National title . . . Consensus All-American and touted as one of the five top JUCO transfers by Basketball Weekly . . . named MVP in national tournament . . . averaged 13.9 points, 7.9 rebounds, 5.0 assists, 3.7 steals and 1.6 blocked shots per game.

High School: Played two years at Richmond Wythe in Richmond, Virginia.

Personal: Paul and his wife Elizabeth are the parents of 4½ year old Ashley Chavon (3/29/84) and 2½ year old Angela (6/6/86) . . . the family resides in Tulsa, Oklahoma during the summer months as does Paul's mother, Mrs. Mary E. How Acquired	: From the Seattle SuperSonics along with two second round draft picks for Alton Lister and two first round draft picks on July 1, 1986. The draft picks are in 1987 and 1989.
Pro Experience	: Currently in twelfth NBA season
Residence	: Seattle, Washington and Milwaukee, Wisconsin

'87-88 Regular Season: Had a fabulous season in his second year in Milwaukee and capped it off in grand fashion by winning the NBA free throw percentage crown with a scintillating mark of .922%... was a key cog in the Bucks' attack finishing first on the club in FT%, rebounds, minutes played, and games played; second in steals, blocks, and scoring while being fourth in assists... has played and started in every game for the Bucks over his two seasons here — and in eight years has answered the call for all 82 contests. FREE THROW SHOOTER EXTRAORDINAIRE — Paced the League in FT% for nearly the entire season and his mark of .922% was the tenth best effort in NBA history (one of only six players to reach such a lofty figure)... tallest player in League history to win the FT crown — previous holder of that distinction was Larry Bird at 6'9"... only other Buck to cop a FT% title was Flynn Robinson in 1969-70 at .898% (that mark was also the club record until now)... had a number of impressive streaks from the charity stripe — recorded four such strings numbering 51, 44, 37 and 25 consecutive... opened the year by hitting his first 37 FT's (which actually was 75 in a row because Jack made his final 38 attempts in the 1987 playoffs) — because it crossed over from playoffs to regular season that streak was not recognized by the NBA... was perfect from the FT line in 53 outings and missed more than one in a game only three times... suffered only one lull and it came from game #42 to #49 when he converted 26-35 for .743% (discounting that stretch he was 295-313 for .942%)... in two years with the Bucks Jack has canned 586-661 free throws for .887% and that vaults Jack into the top spot in club history for FT%. ANOTHER GREAT SEASON — Led his club in rebounds for the 10th straight season (although his mark of 8.6 rpg was his lowest since his rookie season mark of 8.3)... only the third year Jack pulled down fewer than 10 boards a game... topped 1,000 points for the 10th straight year and was second on the team with 16.5 ppg... finished the season as the 53rd leading scorer in NBA history with 14,431 points (passed 15 NBA greats in '87-88)... scored his 14,000th point in game #52 at Boston... boasted a FG% mark of .486% which is third best of his career... had 93 steals and that stands as the third highest total of Jack's career... second on the team in blocks with 80 and fourth in feeds with 3.4 apg... had a career low for turnovers with 157... team high 2,923 minutes was his most playing time since 1983-84... committed 307 personal fouls and was DQ'd on fouls 11 times... only higher total was 328 personals and 14 DQ's in 1986-87 with MKE. PROVING HIS VALUE — Was club leader in rebounds 34 times, points 15 times, assists eight times, and in steals on 14 occasions... Bucks were 16-11 when Jack scored at least 20 points, 19-12 with 10+ rebounds and 14-7 with at least two swats... topped .500% from the floor 40 times and .600% 17 times... had a club best 29 double-doubles for points and rebounds (23 of those came in the first 50 games)... had a better first half of the season — in the first 41 games he averaged 18.4 ppg and 9.6 rpg compared to final 41 game figures of 14.6 ppg and 7.7 rpg... suffered through one slump and it hit from game #69 to #76; over that span Jack scored at a 7.4 clip (on subpar 26% FG shooting)... during that drought he failed to reach double figures in seven of eight games (only 11 times for the year)... career milestones during '87-88 included his 800th career game, 5,000th career field goal, and 9,000th rebound.

Playoff Palaver: Most experienced playoff performer for Milwaukee with 86 appearances... also is only Buck that owns a World Championship ring — earned that in 1979 as a member of the Seattle SuperSonics... during the Sonics' title drive he averaged 14.9 ppg and 11.6 rpg while shooting .460% from the field and .814% from the free throw line... also was in the NBA Finals during his rookie season of 1977-78 (when Sonics were defeated by Washington)... all but 17 of his playoff outings came as a SuperSonic... has always been a clutch performer and that has not changed since joining the Bucks — in 1988 playoffs was typically solid with 19 ppg and a team high 12.4 rpg in five games... was sensational in his first playoff season with Milwaukee in 1987 when he scored at a 16.2 clip and snared 10.8 rpg while posting a .487 FG% mark and a .980 FT%... set an NBA playoff standard in the Eastern Conference semifinals vs. Boston in 1987 with the most FTM without a miss in a seven-game series — shot an incredible 35-35... in 17 playoff outings with the Bucks has paced the club in caroms 12 times including a post-season career high of 21 vs. Philadelphia in game #5 of the first round in 1987... career playoff numbers read 15.4 ppg and 10.1 rpg.

NBA Career: Ranks fourth among active NBA players in rebounds; sixth in minutes played; tenth in games played; eighth, tenth, and seventh respectively in FTM, FTA, and FT%; fourth in personal fouls; and eighth in disqualifications ... enters the 1988-89 campaign as the 53rd leading scorer in NBA history ... has ranked among the top ten in NBA rebounding six of his eleven years in the league ... appears in the top four in all Seattle team categories and owns the top spot in five of them ... far and away the Sonics' top all-time rebounder with 7,729 — Spencer Haywood is a distant second with 3,954 ... entered the NBA as an unknown number one pick from Illinois Wesleyan in 1977 and proceeded to make the 1977-78 NBA All-Rookie team ... has been a seven-time member of the Western Conference All-Star team, but has never been voted on the team by fans — always selected by the coaches ... has finished in the top ten in FT% four times in his career; only two centers (Sikma and Mike Gminski) have ranked in that category since 1964-65 ... highlight of pro career came in 1979 when the Sonics defeated the Washington Bullets for the NBA championship ... has been selected to the NBA All-Defensive team twice ... his trademark has become "The Move", an unorthodox, virtually unblockable jump shot developed in college ... has run up consecutive game streaks of 439 and 195 ... played all 82 games from rookie season through 1981-82 and again in '83-'84, '86-87, and '87-88 ... has missed just 23 games in eleven years, appearing in 97.5% of his team's games.

College: Was an NAIA All-American during his last two years of college as well as an Academic All-American ... only player (at the time) ever drafted out of tiny Illinois Wesleyan (1,600 enrollment) ... averaged 21.2 ppg and 13.1 rpg in four collegiate seasons ... participated in 1976 U.S. Olympic Trials ... inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame in March, 1983.

Personal: Jack and his wife Shawn are the parents of a 2½ year old son, Jacob (7/17/86) ... Shawn was a Seattle area model before their marriage in 1984 ... has a degree in accounting from Illinois Wesleyan ... avid golfer who boasts a 10 handicap and will have ample opportunity to improve on that as he is involved in building a golf course in the Seattle area which is scheduled to open the summer of '89 ... another business interest is Ray's Boathouse in Seattle, a landmark seafood restaurant which has been rebuilt after a fire in May of 1987 ... Honorary Chairman of the Tenethon for Children's Hospital in Milwaukee which raised close to $50,000 in 1988 ... traveled to Italy on behalf of Converse during the off-season to lecture at basketball camps — ran into Del Harris ... has his own basketball camp at his alma mater, Illinois Wesleyan with collegiate coach Dennis Bridges — the camp celebrated its tenth anniversary in '88 ... staged the Jack Sikma Celebrity Golf tournament in Seattle for three summers to benefit the Seattle Children's Orthopedic Hospital.

BEATING THE ODDS

What do former Buck Keith Smith and current Buck Tito Horford have in common? Those two players have the distinction of being the only two non-first round draft picks (of the Bucks) to make the squad in the 1980's. Smith was a second round selection in 1986 while Horford was tabbed in the second in 1988. The last non-first rounder of the Bucks to see action for Milwaukee previous to Smith was Otis Howard (a fourth round pick) in 1978-79.

NBA'S BEST SHOOTER FROM 15 FEET? JACK SIKMA

From wire to wire in 1987-88, Jack Sikma was the NBA's premier free throw shooter as he concluded the season with a sterling mark of .922%; the 10th best effort from the charity stripe in League history (one of only six players to reach that lofty of a mark). He also became the tallest player in League history to cop the FT title, surpassing Larry Bird, who at 6'9" was the previous holder of that distinction. Sikma became the second player in Bucks' history to win the FT crown (Flynn Robinson in 1969-70 at .898% — that was also the previous team record for FT%).

TRIVIA TIME: NAME THE CENTRAL TEAMS THAT HAVE WON DIVISION CROWNS

Only four members of the Central Division have Central Division titles to their credit. Milwaukee is first with six first place finishes, Atlanta is next with two, while Cleveland and Detroit (which celebrated its first-ever division crown this season) have one apiece. Cleveland won the Central in 1975-76. Chicago has one division crown, that coming in the Midwest Division in 1974-75.

For the 1987-88 season the Bucks missed a total of 195 player games due to injury, illness, suspension, or other reason. That's equivalent to every man on a twelve-man roster missing 16.3 games. Over the last eleven seasons (since 1977-78, Don Nelson's first full year as head coach), the Bucks have totaled 1,222 player games missed due to injury, illness, suspension, or other reason for an average of 111.6 per season. Those figures can be compared to the Bucks' rival in the Central Division, Detroit, who over the past ten seasons have totaled 906 missed games due to injury, illness, etc. for an average of 90.6. New York registered an all-time NBA high of 386 manpower games missed due to injury during the 1985-86 season topping the mark they set in 1984-85 of 339.

By year, here is the Milwaukee breakdown: 1977-78 — 20, 1978-79 — 99 (Meyers missed entire season due to a bad back), 1979-80 — 52, 1980-81 — 41, 1981-82 — 106, 1982-83 — 163, 1983-84 — 84, 1984-85 — 137, 1985-86 — 108, 1986-87 — 217, 1987-88 — 195.

Here's the 1987-88 breakdown by player: Bradley 12, Breuer 1, Cummings 6, Hodges 8, Humphries 11, Krystkowiak 24, Mannion 13, Mokeski 18, Moncrief 26, Pierce 45, Pressey 6, Reynolds 17, Stroeder 8.

BUCKS WIN 10 STRAIGHT AT HOME TO START SEASON

The Bucks reeled off 10 straight home wins at the start of the 1984-85 season to set a franchise record for consecutive home wins at the start of a season. The all-time Club record for consecutive home wins in one season is 17 (1/6/73 to 3/12/73) and over a two season span 25 (1/6/73 to 11/13/73 - 17 + 8).

OUT OF THE GATE BUCKS UTILIZE 12 DIFFERENT STARTING LINEUPS

While the Bucks experienced 25 changes in their starting lineup during the 1986-87 season, they were able to cut that number in half during the 1987-88 season. Last year the club endured 195 player games missed due to injury, illness, suspension, or other reason. There were 33 roster changes and 12 different starting lineups. The number of roster changes is an all-time high since we started keeping tabs of this particular statistic back in 1981-82. The 195 player games missed ranks second to last year's all-time club high 217. Here's a chart with the breakdowns:

Year	Starting Lineups	Roster Changes	Injury or Illness
1987-88	12	33	194
1986-87	25	32	217
1985-86	10	14	108
1984-85	12	14	137
1983-84	23	12	84
1982-83	23	27	163
1981-82	15	—	106

In 1987-88 two groups (numbers 1 and 7 below) saw the most action together at tipoff time. The group that opened the 20th Anniversary season for the Bucks (group #1 below) went on to compile a 10-7 (.588%) mark. The only other combination to see more action was number seven. That group tipped off 36 times and split their win/loss total evenly at 18-18.

Jack Sikma was the only player who answered the buzzer for the opening tap in all 82 games. Sikma started 73 games at power forward and the remaining nine at center. Other players who came close to starting every game include Cummings (76), Pressey (75), and Breuer (72).

Here are the starting lineups and their records:

STARTING COMBINATIONS					W-L	%	1st Time
1.	Cummings — Sikma — Breuer — Pressey — Reynolds				10-7	.588	11/ 6
2.	Cummings — Sikma — Breuer — Lucas — Pressey				5-5	.500	11/30

12.	Cummings — Krystkowiak — Sikma — Moncrief — Pressey				2-2	.500	4/19

Here are the win/loss records for each player as a starter: Breuer 38-35 (.521%), Cummings 39-37 (.513%), Henry 1-1 (.500%), Krystkowiak 2-5 (.286%), Lucas 10-12 (.455%), Mannion 1-0 (1.00%), Moncrief 25-26 (.490%), Pressey 40-35 (.533%), Reynolds 12-9 (.571%), Sikma 42-40 (.512%).

TOP NBA CAREER SCORERS: BUCKS STYLE

Of the 143 players that have surpassed 10,000 points in the NBA, 17 of those scored some of those points as members of the Milwaukee Bucks. Here's the list and where each one ranks entering the 1988-89 season. Kareem Abdul Jabbar (1st), Oscar Robertson (4th), Alex English (10th), Bob Lanier (16th), Nate Archibald (31st), Bob Dandridge (40th), Jack Sikma (53rd), Bob Love (63rd), Marques Johnson (64th), Dave Cowens (66th), Bob Boozer (73rd), Mickey Johnson (76th), Junior Bridgeman (100th), Sidney Moncrief (117th), Brian Winters (127th), Wayne Embry (130th) and Terry Cummings (131st).

NBA'S BEST SHOOTER FROM 15 FEET? JACK SIKMA

From wire to wire in 1987-88, Jack Sikma was the NBA's premier free throw shooter as he concluded the season with a sterling mark of .922%; the 10th best effort from the charity stripe in League history (one of only six players to reach that lofty of a mark). He also became the tallest player in League history to cop the FT title, surpassing Larry Bird, who at 6'9" was the previous holder of that distinction. Sikma became the second player in Bucks' history to win the FT crown (Flynn Robinson in 1969-70 at .898% — that was also the previous team record for FT%).

BUCKS CAREER LEADER CHANGES OVER THE COURSE OF THE 1987-88 SEASON

(Bucks totals unless otherwise noted)

THE TEAM — Set a new standard for FT% in a season at .775% which eclipsed the old mark of .770% recorded in the 1980-81 season... Bucks converted 3,366 field goals for the year and that is the lowest in club history beating the previous low of 3,432 FGM in 1983-84... eclipsed a single game mark for offensive rebounds with 32 against San Antonio on 3/8/88 breaking the old standard of 30 vs. Indiana on 1/2/77... there were also two records for a Bucks' opponent: MKE's foes came up with a franchise low 621 steals which snapped the old figure of 623 set in 1982-83 while also committing 1,346 turnovers which lowers the old record of 1,376 from 1983-84.

COACH DEL HARRIS — Started the 1987-88 season 46th in NBA history in coaching victories and climbed to 42nd with 42 wins... now has 183 career wins and passed Charlie Wolf, Jerry West, Ray Scott, and Dolph Schayes.

RANDY BREUER — Moved among the Bucks' career leaders in blocked shots passing Elmore Smith (307) for fifth place and finishing with 404 swats.

TERRY CUMMINGS — Appears on seven Milwaukee career lists and highest ranking is second in scoring average at 21.4 ppg... biggest jumps during the '87-88 season came on the FTM and FTA lists — surpassed Oscar Robertson (1,111) and Jon McGlocklin (875) for FTM and stands eighth with 1,127 while moving by Brian Winters (1,612) and Oscar Robertson (1,318) for FTA and holding down the seventh spot with 1,649... sid by Junior Bridgeman (2,642) for rebounds with 2,663 and is seventh in Bucks' history... remains in the eighth position for FGM (2,844), FGA (5,788) and points (6,816).

SIDNEY MONCRIEF — Is etched on 13 of Milwaukee's 14 career leaders categories including first for FTM (3,300) and FTA (3,977)... biggest movement came in games played where Sid went from fifth to second and has a total of 633 appearances — leapfrogged Brian Winters (582), Jon McGlocklin (595) and Bob Dandridge (618)... is second in club annals in minutes played with 20,460 after passing Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (19,965)... is fourth in points with 10,842... would have assumed the top spot in assists but Paul Pressey grabbed that position — Sid did climb to second though by jumping past Brian Winters (2,479) and Quinn Buckner (2,391) and ending with 2,501... remained second in steals (809), fourth in rebounds (3,275) and sixth in FGM (3,739) and FGA (7,426)... also in sixth position for scoring average (17.1), seventh in FT% (.830%) and eighth in FG% (.504%).

RICKY PIERCE — Remained ninth in scoring average with 15.4 ppg... one of the best shooters to ever play with Milwaukee and ranks third in team history in both FG% (.531%) and FT% (.865%).

PAUL PRESSEY — Climbed to the top spot in team history for assists and has 2,589 feeds — started '87-88 in fifth place and surpassed Brian Winters (2,479), Quinn Buckner (2,391), Oscar Robertson (2,156), and teammate Sidney Moncrief (2,501)... moved amongst club career steals leaders with 704 — is third after slipping by Junior Bridgeman (607), Brian Winters (675), and Marques Johnson (697)... is sixth in FTM (1,385) and FTA (1,871) — passed Oscar Robertson (1,111) and Brian Winters (1,367) for FTM and Brian Winters (1,612) in FTA... moved into eighth position for minutes played (13,379) by passing Quinn Buckner at 12,154... jumped by Harvey Catchings (1,918) and Curtis Perry (1,818) on Bucks rebound list and stands ninth with 2,062... holds the ninth spot in games played with 456 (passed Alton Lister at 404) and in points with 5,465 (moved by Quinn Buckner at 4,738 and Oscar Robertson at 4,701)... climbed up on FGM (2,019) and FGA (4,083) charts and passed Oscar Robertson in both places.

JACK SIKMA — Compiled a new club record for FT% in a season with .922% — shattering old mark of .898% by Flynn Robinson in 1969-70... also moved into top spot in team history for career FT% (with Milwaukee) at .887% (586-661)... finished season as 52nd leading scorer in NBA history with 14,431 points (passed 15 NBA greats in '87-88).

FAMOUS FIRSTS IN BUCK HISTORY

FIRST DRAFT CHOICE — In the 1968 College Draft, the Bucks named Charlie Paulk of Northeastern State (Oklahoma) their first draft pick of all-time.

FIRST GAME — On October 16, 1968 the Milwaukee Bucks played their first NBA game against Chicago. The Bucks were defeated 89-84 before a Milwaukee Arena crowd of 8,467. Guy Rodgers led the Bucks in scoring with 16 points.

FIRST WIN — After losing the first five games, Milwaukee responded with a 134-118 victory over Detroit at the Arena for the first win ever on October 31, 1968. Wayne Embry led the Bucks in scoring with 30 points — the first player in history to score 30 for Milwaukee.

FIRST ROAD WIN — Milwaukee's first victory on the road came on the twelfth try at San Francisco. The Bucks won 107-101 with Fred Hetzel pumping in 22 points on November 30, 1968.

FIRST SELLOUT — On February 27, 1969 the Milwaukee Bucks played before a capacity crowd at the Arena for the first time. 10,746 fans jammed the Arena to witness a 126-117 victory over Baltimore. Flynn Robinson led the way with 35 points.

FIRST WINNING SEASON — In only their second year of existence the Bucks won 56 while losing only 26.

FIRST PLAYOFF GAME — March 25, 1970. The Bucks defeated the Philadelphia 76ers at Madison 125-118 in the team's first playoff action ever. Lew Alcindor scored 36 points in the opening victory. Milwaukee went on to win the series 4 games to 1. However, they fell to the eventual NBA Champions, the New York Knickerbockers in five games.

FIRST NBA CHAMPIONSHIP — The Milwaukee Bucks had gone further, faster than any expansion team in the history of professional sports in their third season of play. In 1970-71 the Bucks won 66 and lost 16 in the regular season then went on to become the NBA Champions. They defeated Baltimore in four games in the finals.

FIRST MVP AWARD — Lew Alcindor was named the NBA's MVP following the 1970-71 season. The first Buck to win the award led the League in scoring with a 31.7 average.

FIRST THREE POINT SHOT — Brian Winters canned the first three point shot for the Milwaukee Bucks on October 25, 1979. Milwaukee defeated the Clippers at San Diego 118-115 in the contest.

ALL—TIME NBA STATISTICS TOP NBA CAREER SCORERS

(Active players in capital letters — Bucks players and coaches in green type)

Figures from National Basketball League are included below; NBL did not record field goal attempts, however, so all field goal percentages listed here are based only on field goals and attempts in NBA competition. Minutes played not compiled prior to 1952; rebounds not compiled prior to 1951.

THE LAND OF 10,000 POINTS

Only four players have reached the 10,000 point plateau in a Bucks' uniform and that group is an impressive one as it includes Kareem Abdul Jabbar (14,211), Bob Dandridge (11,478), Marques Johnson (10,980) and Sidney Moncrief (10,239). Terry Cummings cracked the 10,000 point mark during the 1987-88 campaign but is still a ways from that figure as a Buck. Cummings entered the 1988-89 season with 10,330 career points with 6,816 of those coming with Milwaukee.

TALE OF THE TURNSTYLES

When the final buzzer sounded at 10:33 p.m. on Friday, April 22, 1988 and the Bucks had defeated the New York Knicks, Milwaukee's NBA franchise concluded its most successful season at the date since the inception of the team in 1968. Through 41 regular season games during the 1987-88 season the Bucks drew a total of 452,057 fans to the Milwaukee Arena for an average of 11,026 and a percent of capacity figure of .998 which includes 38 of 41 sellouts and a streak of 34 straight to close the season (last non-sellout was November 30 vs. Indiana). The Bucks missed a complete sellout all season long by just 1,075 tickets. Through the 1986-87 season the club missed a complete sellout for the entire season by just 2,145 tickets.

Here are the new all-time marks and the records bested: Total attendance (452,057 beating the '86-87 mark of 450,987), average attendance (11,026 beating the '86-87 mark of 11,000), percent of capacity (.998 surpasses the previous best of .997% set in the 1979-80 season when the capacity of the Arena was 10,938 — the house expanded by 114 seats for the 1980-81 season).

The NBA as a whole also enjoyed record-setting attendance figures during the 1987-88 campaign as the League upped its standard for the fifth consecutive season.

NBA regular season attendance has flourished to the tune of more than 12 million fans the past two seasons, climbing from 12,065,351 in 1986-87 to a lofty 12,654,374 in 1987-88. The League averaged 13,419 fans to each of the 943 regular season contests. NBA attendance improved 4.9 percent from 1986-87 while that growth has been a whopping 31.3 percent since the 1982-83 season.

Heading the NBA's attendance story in 1987-88 were the Detroit Pistons who became the first NBA team to pass the million mark by drawing 1,066,505 for an average of 26,012.

The Milwaukee Arena was the third oldest building in use by an NBA team in 1987-88. Only Boston Garden (1928) and Chicago Stadium (1935) were constructed prior to the Arena (1949) and served as an NBA home court. Starting with the 1988-89 season the Bucks will play in the 53 million dollar Bradley Center (18,400 estimated capacity). The Bradley Center is one of several buildings recently constructed or currently under construction as part of a major building boom in the NBA. In addition to Milwaukee, moving into what one NBA general manager calls "the Taj Mahal of the NBA", the four new franchises (Charlotte, Miami, Minneapolis, and Orlando) will all either open in brand spanking new arenas or will be in a new building after just a year or two in a temporary home. Along with the Bucks, Detroit (The Palace of Auburn Hills) and Sacramento will be moving into new homes also this season. Several clubs have seriously discussed moving to new digs. Among them: Boston, New York, Phoenix, and Seattle.

Here's a chart depicting the Bucks history of wins and losses along with attendance figures in the Milwaukee Arena.

	GAMES	Wins	Losses	Winning %	Attendance	Sellouts	% of Capacity
Regular Season	791	582	209	.736	8,123,038	430	.935
Playoffs	71	46	25	.648	771,118	66	.983
Total	862	628	234	.729	8,894,156	496	.956

Note: Including a total of 104,172 fans drawn over eleven years of the annual MACC Fund pre-season game (9,470 average for the fund raiser), the Bucks have drawn a total of 8,998,328 fans just 1,672 shy of the nine million mark in club history. The MACC Fund game figures include a two game total of 21,273 from the 1987 MACC Fund game held in conjunction with the McDonald's Basketball Open. Pre-MACC Fund pre-season game attendance records are still being researched. It is likely the inclusion of those figures will increase the 8.9 million figure and push it over the nine million mark.

SMITH AND JOHNSON MOST COMMON NAMES AMONG BUCKS

In the Bucks' 20-year history 140 players have appeared in a Milwaukee uniform and the surname that has appeared the most on the back of the Bucks' jersey is Smith. There have been six Smiths that have entered the Bucks' lockerroom; the most recent being Keith, who was a rookie in 1986-87. The other Smiths were Don, Elmore, Greg, Robert and Sam. The next most popular surname is that of Johnson — namely Marques, George and Mickey. The other surnames to appear more than once in Bucks' annals are as follows — Cummings (Pat and Terry), Davis (Mickey and Charles), Henderson (Cedric and Jerome), Garrett (Dick and Rowland), Jones (Earl and Wali), and Williams (Ron and Sam). For information on when these players were in action for the Bucks see the teams' all-time roster.

HISTORY

MILWAUKEE BUCKS PLAYOFF HISTORY

1969-70 — The Bucks (56-26) finished second in the Eastern Division behind the 60-win New York Knickerbockers. Division Semifinals: Milwaukee beats Philadelphia 4-1 to advance to the Division finals vs. the Knicks who had beat the Baltimore Bullets 4-1. Division finals: N.Y. beats Milwaukee 4-1 and then goes on to edge Los Angeles 4-3 to become NBA champions.

1970-71 — The Bucks (66-16) finished first in the Midwest Division with the best record in the Western Conference. Conference Semifinals: Milwaukee beats San Francisco 4-1 to gain the right to face Los Angeles in the Conference finals as the Lakers edge Chicago 4-3 in the other Conference semifinal. Conference Final: Milwaukee beat L.A. 4-1 and earns the right to face Eastern Conference winner Baltimore which edged the Knicks 4-3. Championship Series: Milwaukee captures its first NBA crown with a 4-0 sweep of the Bullets.

1971-72 — Milwaukee again sits atop the Midwest Division at 63-19, second best record in the Western Conference. Conference Semifinals: Milwaukee beats Golden State 4-1 to advance to the Conference final vs. 69 win Los Angeles who had beaten Chicago 4-0 in the other Western Conference semifinal. Conference Final: Milwaukee is beaten by Los Angeles 4-2.

1972-73 — Bucks third straight 60 win or better season brings them their third straight Midwest Division title and ties them with L.A. for the best record in the Western Conference at 60-22. Conference Semifinals: The Bucks are ambushed by Golden State 4-2.

1973-74 — Milwaukee wins their 4th straight Midwest title at 59-23. Conference Semifinal: Milwaukee beats Los Angeles 4-1 and advances to play Chicago who defeated Detroit 4-3 in the other Western Conference semifinal. Conference Final: The Bucks beat the Bulls 4-0 and meet Eastern Conference champion Boston who had beaten New York 4-1. Championship Series: In one of the classic championship series, the Celtics beat the Bucks 4-3.

1975-76 — The Bucks top the Midwest Division (38-44) with the sixth best record in the West. Western Conference First Round: Bucks are beaten in a miniseries by Detroit 2-1.

1977-78 — Milwaukee finishes second to Denver in the Midwest at 44-38. Western Conference First Round: The Bucks surprise the favored Phoenix Suns and sweep a miniseries 2-0. Conference Semifinal: The Bucks run up against Midwest Division champ Denver and lose an exciting and hard fought series 4-3.

1979-80 — The Bucks top the Midwest Division with a 49-33 mark and get a bye in the first round of the playoffs. Conference Semifinals: Bucks meet the Superonics who had nipped the Portland Trail Blazers 2-1 in the first round, and lose a tough, rough seven game series 4-3.

1980-81 — Bucks shift to the Eastern Conference and the Central Division and top that group with a 60-22 mark to receive a bye in the first round. Philadelphia beats Indiana 2-0 for the right to face Milwaukee in the semis. Lose to Philly 4-3 in hard fought series.

1981-82 — The Bucks top the Central Division for the second straight year posting a 55-27 record, have a bye in the first round and then meet the Philadelphia 76ers who had beaten Atlanta 2-0 in the miniseries. Conference Semifinals: Milwaukee loses to the Sixers 4-2.

1982-83 — For the third consecutive year the Bucks are kingpins of the Central Division while winning their fourth overall division crown. Regular season record of 51-31 earns the club a first round bye and time to prepare for the Boston Celtics who were eliminating Atlanta in the miniseries. Milwaukee swept Boston in four straight for the right to play eventual champion Philadelphia in the Eastern Conference finals. Bucks managed just one win in five outings vs. the Sixers but it was an accomplishment in itself as Milwaukee was the only club in the playoffs to beat Philly whose overall playoff record was 12-1.

1983-84 — Once again and for the fifth consecutive season the Bucks win their division (four in a row in the Central) while making the NBA's final four for the second straight year. Regular season record of 50-32 didn't earn a bye as they were eliminated under the expanded playoff format. Bucks defeated Atlanta 3-2 in the opening round while New Jersey was surprising defending champion Philadelphia winning all three games on the Sixers court. Milwaukee beat the Nets 4-2 and gained the Eastern Conference finals vs. Boston where they lost out 4-1. The Celtics went on to win the NBA title.

1984-85 — The Central Division title was captured by the Bucks for the fifth straight year making the club division title holders for six consecutive seasons. Taking a 59-23 regular season mark into the playoffs, the Bucks defeated division foe Chicago 3-1. Milwaukee was blind-sided in the next round of playoffs by the Philadelphia 76ers. The Bucks succumbed to the Sixers in four straight contests.

1985-86 — Milwaukee notched it's sixth straight Central Division title and seventh straight division crown by virtue of a 57-25 slate. The Bucks advanced to the Eastern Conference finals for the third time in four years by trouncing New Jersey, 3-0 and edging Philadelphia in the Eastern Conference finals, 4-3. Boston derailed the Bucks at that point, sweeping Milwaukee in four straight and going on to the NBA title.

1986-87 — The Bucks rolled to their seventh consecutive fifty win season (50-32) and while their streak of seven straight division championships was snapped, that record stands as the second best streak in League history trailing only Boston's nine straight division crowns dating back to the late 1950's. The Bucks opened the playoffs with a 3-2 series win over the Philadelphia 76ers before being eliminated by the Boston Celtics 4-3.

1987-88 — Milwaukee recorded its ninth consecutive winning season at 42-40, but fell short of 50 victories for the first time in eight years. The Bucks also qualified for post-season action for the ninth straight campaign which is second only to the Lakers' string of 12. Milwaukee exited from the playoffs in the first round when Atlanta captured the fifth and deciding game of a hard-fought and well-played series. The Hawks captured the final contest 121-111 and the series 3-2.

TITLES HELD BY MILWAUKEE

BUCKS HONOR PAST GREATS

They may not physically participate in the game of basketball anymore, but many memories still play on in the minds of the past Milwaukee Bucks stars who have had their jerseys retired.

Pretend, for a moment, that you were suited up for an NBA game at the Arena and the announcer called out this Bucks' lineup to take the court against you:

"Playing guard, he's 6-5, 220 pounds out of Cincinnati . . . Number 1 . . . Ossscarr Roobertson, Robertson . . . at another guard, he's 6-4, 185 pounds out of South Carolina . . . Number 32 . . . Briian Wiiinters, Winters . . . also playing guard, he's 6-5, 205 pounds out of Indiana . . . Number 14 . . . Joon McGloocklin, McGlocklin . . . at forward, he's 6-5, 210 pounds out of Louisville . . . Number 2 . . . Juuniooor Bridgggeman, Bridgeman . . . and playing center, he's 6-10, 268 pounds out of St. Bonaventure . . . Number 16 . . . Bob Laaanieer, Lanier."

The fans go crazy . . . the Bucks lineup smears you by a mile-and-a-half, and . . . OK, the pretending is over. Unfortunately, the five forenamed Bucks never suited up for the same game all at once!

However, many sweet memories of their NBA playing days with the Bucks prevail.

"The entire year of the world championship season sticks out," recalled McGlocklin, who was a vital part of the NBA championship team in 1970-71. "We had so many national writers covering us, books written about us, and people in here (Milwaukee) even from the beginning because we were picked to win it all after we traded for Oscar Robertson."

McGlocklin played eight seasons with the Bucks from the club's inception in 1968. "Gentleman Jon," noted for his "rainbow jumpers," averaged 12.5 points a game and his .505 field goal percentage is among the best in league history.

Jon currently works with the Bucks as a broadcaster. He is the president of Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAACC) Fund and a partner with former Milwaukee Brewer, Sal Bando, in Bando-McGlocklin Capital Corp. in Milwaukee.

Robertson, who was the first Buck to have his number retired, came to Milwaukee from Cincinnati for Charlie Paulk and Flynn Robinson in 1970. He proved to be the catalyst for the Bucks' championship.

In his career, the "Big O" scored 26,710 points and recorded nearly 10,000 assists (9,987). He was the NBA MVP in the All-Star game three times and overall MVP in 1964. He was an All-Star 11 times.

Oscar has been the president of Orchem, Inc., a chemical company in Cincinnati, for the past seven years. He also owns a trucking and construction company. He resides with his wife Yvonne in Cincinnati.

Bridgeman and Winters came to the Bucks in 1975 as part of the famous trade that saw Kareem Abdul-Jabbar depart Milwaukee for Los Angeles. Both Bridgeman and Winters have warm memories of the people they played for.

"Milwaukee is obviously a special place for me," said Bridgeman. "It's not the buildings that make a city, it's the people. I know you won't find people better anywhere than the people you'll find here. They care about their community and each other, and it's reflective of the fans."

Said Winters, who is in his third year as an assistant coach for the Cleveland Cavaliers, "It was an excellent place to play and live. The franchise was well-run and we had some good players."

Both Winters and Bridgeman mentioned that beating the Boston Celtics in four straight games in the conference semifinals in 1983 is something that sticks out in their minds.

Bridgeman scored more than 10,300 points in playoff and regular season contests and appears on 11 of the team's 12 career statistical categories.

Junior resides in Louisville but spends a lot of time in Milwaukee. He is the president of Bridgeman Foods and oversees five Wendy's restaurant franchises throughout the city. He is also involved with the NBA Players Association.

Winters was a pure-shooter who could hit from anywhere on the court. In his eight years here, he averaged 16.7 points per game in the regular season and 15.6 in the playoffs. He made the NBA All-Rookie team in 1975, and was named an All-Star in 1975-76 and 1977-78. He retired from basketball after the 1982-83 season because of back problems.

Lanier has stayed in the Milwaukee area and operates Bob Lanier Enterprises, Inc., an advertising and promotional products business.

"The Dobber" joined the Bucks in 1979-80 and led the team to five straight playoff seasons. In his 14-year career, nine-and-a-half with the Detroit Pistons, he averaged 20.1 points a game, scoring more than 19,000 points. He grabbed 9,698 rebounds and played in eight All-Star games. Lanier was the NBA Rookie-of-the-Year in 1971 and All-Star MVP in 1974.

1975-76

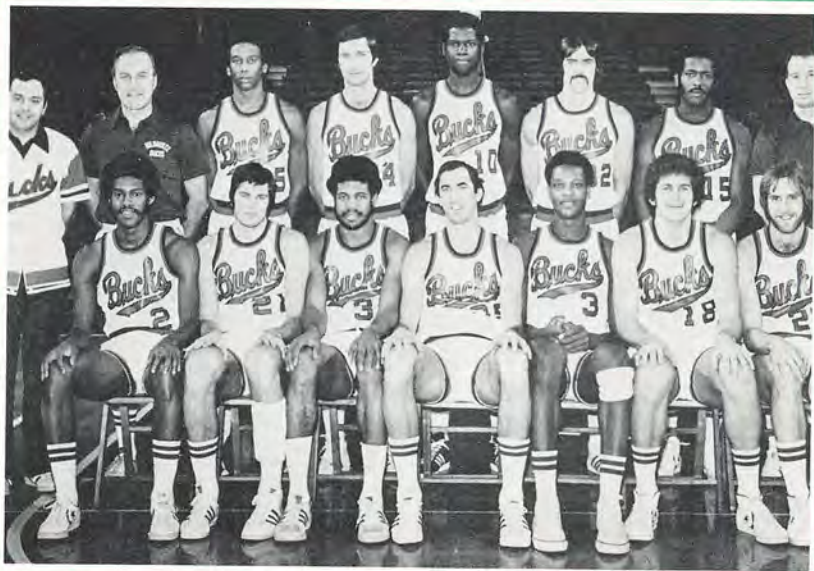

Record: 38-44 (First, Midwest Division)

Playoff Record: Lost to Detroit, Conference Miniseries, 2-1

Regular Season Highlights: On June 16, 1975 the Bucks executed one of the biggest trades in NBA history by sending Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and reserve center Walt Wesley to the Los Angeles Lakers in exchange for center Elmore Smith, guard Brian Winters, and two All-American rookies, David Meyers and Junior Bridgeman . . . as the season progressed, all four of these acquisitions proved to make important contributions . . . Smith became a consistent performer at center, leading the team in rebounding during the season with 11.4 per game . . . Winters put his marksmanship to work and averaged over 18 points a game and made the NBA West All-Star team . . . Bridgeman played both guard and forward, starting 19 games and averaging over 20 minutes per game . . . Meyers showed outstanding rebounding potential, banging the boards hard in 34 starts at the strong forward slot . . . All-Star Bob Dandridge averaged 21.5 points per game while ranking among the top ten scorers in the League . . . the Bucks set a team record for fewest points in a game at Chicago November 28, 1975 with 69 . . . Coach Larry Costello signed a new two-year pact just prior to the playoffs.

Playoff Highlights: The Milwaukeeans were beat in the first round of the best of three playoff series 2-1 by Detroit.

1976-77

Record: 30-52 (Sixth, Midwest Division)

Regular Season Highlights: The Bucks saw a major shakeup within the organization -- just 18 games into the season Larry Costello resigned as Head Coach and assistant coach Don Nelson took over the reigns . . . other changes came about involving the club's management structure as a group headed by James F. Fitzgerald, William J. Blake, and J.P. Cullen and Son Corporation purchased 361,000 outstanding shares of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services common stock . . . Fitzgerald became Chairman of the Board and President of the Corporation . . . Wayne Embry, formerly General Manager of the club, became a consultant, thus relinquishing his day-to-day responsibilities . . . Embry's duties were split between Don Nelson, who handled player personnel matters, and John Steinmiller, who was promoted to Director of Business Operations (in charge of the day-to-day functions of the club) . . . on the court Bob Dandridge turned in a solid performance averaging 20.8 points . . . Swen Nater set the Bucks' record for rebounds in a single game with 33 vs. Atlanta December 19, 1976 . . . Quinn Buckner had 9 steals vs. Indiana on January 2, 1977 to set a team mark . . . the Bucks set two team single game records -- with 30 offensive rebounds and 21 steals vs. Indiana on January 2, 1977 . . . Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman also averaged in double figures as did Nater, who was then traded to Cleveland for a first round draft choice that became Marques Johnson . . . behind the direction of Rick Sund, Don Nelson, and Wayne Embry the club drafted and subsequently signed three first round choices in Kent Benson, Johnson, and Ernie Grunfeld . . . John Killilea, once a scout for the Bucks and more recently assistant coach of the Boston Celtics, joined Don Nelson in the coaching ranks as Assistant Coach and Assistant Director of Player Personnel.

1977-78

Record: 44-38 (Second, Midwest Division)

Playoff Record: Beat Phoenix, Conference Miniseries, 2-0
Lost to Denver, Conference Semifinals, 4-3

Regular Season Highlights: The Bucks parlayed an exceptional draft of Kent Benson, Marques Johnson, and Ernie Grunfeld along with veterans Junior Bridgeman, Quinn Buckner, Dave Meyers, and Brian Winters into an exciting season for a young team that as of yet did not have valuable playoff experience . . . Johnson set the Bucks' record for offensive rebounds in a season with 292 . . . the Bucks set an all time NBA record by winning eight overtime games.

Playoff Highlights: The fate of the playoff-hopeful Bucks hinged upon Seattle beating Golden State on the final game of the 902-game NBA regular season schedule . . . the scene was an anxious one for the Bucks as players, coaches, and fans alike stood anxiously by listening to the radio for a special play-by-play feed of the Sonics-Warriors game -- Seattle defeated Golden State, sending the Bucks to pack for a battle with Phoenix . . . Milwaukee swept the favored Suns 2-0 in the mini-series, thus advancing to the conference semifinal . . . the Bucks took Denver to a tough seven games before succumbing . . . the Bucks set five team playoff records in one game on April 23, 1978 vs. Denver -- FG% (.660), blocked shots (13), most points half (87), most points quarter (47, fourth quarter), and assists (46).

Record: 59-23 (First, Central Division)

Playoff Record: Beat Chicago, First Round, 3-1
Lost to Philadelphia, Conference Semifinals, 4-0

Regular Season Highlights: The Bucks won their sixth consecutive division crown, finishing more than a dozen games in front of runner-up Detroit . . . key reason Bucks remained dominant was a pre-season (Sept. 29, 1984) trade that netted Terry Cummings (27.5 ppg, NBA All-Star and All-NBA Second Team), Ricky Pierce and Craig Hodges in exchange for Marques Johnson, Junior Bridgeman, Harvey Catchings, and an undisclosed amount of cash . . . for the fifth straight season the Bucks ended with at least 50 victories while averaging 55 wins per outing over that five-year span . . . with Sidney Moncrief and Paul Pressey as its backbone, the Milwaukee defense led the League for the second time in a row by allowing just 104 ppg . . . the Bucks set a new club standard for home wins by recording a stellar 36-5 mark . . . Pressey set the Bucks' turnover mark for a season at 245.

Playoff Highlights: In the opening round of the playoffs, the Bucks defeated the upstart Chicago Bulls, 3-1, but things didn't go quite as well in the Eastern Conference Semifinals where the Philadelphia 76ers swept the Bucks in four straight contests . . . Pressey tied the Bucks' single playoff game mark for assists vs. Philadelphia April 30, 1985 and vs. Philadelphia May 7, 1985 with 16 in each outing.

Honors: Sidney Moncrief — NBA All-Star Team, NBA All-Defensive Team, and All-NBA Second Team . . . Terry Cummings — NBA All-Star Team and All-NBA Second Team . . . Paul Pressey — NBA All-Defensive Team . . . Don Nelson — NBA Coach of the Year.

1985-86

Record: 57-25 (First, Central Division)

Playoff Record: Beat New Jersey, First Round, 3-0
Beat Philadelphia, Conference Semifinals, 4-3
Lost to Boston, Conference Finals, 4-0

Regular Season Highlights: The Bucks notched their sixth straight Central Division title, and seventh straight division crown, finishing a comfortable seven games in front of Atlanta . . . Milwaukee set team records for FTM (2,063) and FTA (2,701) in a season, while also lowering the team mark for turnovers for the third straight season with just 1,369 bobbles . . . the Bucks set a single game record for field goal percentage when they scorched the nets at .667% in a rout of Sacramento, 140-82, on December 15, 1985 . . . Craig Hodges set Bucks' records for 3-point FGM (73) and 3-point FGA (162) for a season.

Playoff Highlights: The Bucks advanced to the Eastern Conference finals for the third time in four years by trouncing New Jersey, 3-0, and edging Philadelphia, 4-3 . . . Boston derailed the Bucks at that point, sweeping Milwaukee in four straight . . . Paul Pressey set the Bucks' single game playoff record for FTM (15) and FTA (17) vs. Philadelphia May 7, 1986 . . . Craig Hodges steals 8 at Philadelphia May 9, 1986 for the Bucks' single game playoff record, and as a team the Bucks steal 19 for the team playoff record.

Honors: Sidney Moncrief — NBA All-Star Team, All-NBA Second Team, and NBA All-Defensive Team . . . Paul Pressey — NBA All-Defensive Team.

1986-87

Record: 50-32 (Third, Central Division)

Playoff Record: Beat Philadelphia, First Round, 3-2

Lost to Boston, Conference Semifinals, 4-3

Regular Season Highlights: As the second most successful franchise in NBA history, the Bucks continued their winning ways despite experiencing a club record number of injuries . . . rolled to seventh consecutive fifty-win season . . . streak of seven straight division championships snapped (that record stands as the second best streak in League history, trailing only Boston's nine straight division crowns dating back to the late '50's) . . . 500% or better record in every month enabled the club to stretch its monthly winning streak (of +.500% basketball) to an incredible 50 months . . . eight straight winning seasons ties Boston, trailing only Philadelphia's run of eleven winning years in a row and Lakers' string of nine . . . perfect 24-0 when holding opponents under the century mark and 43 straight dating back to the previous season . . . individually, Jack Sikma, acquired in a pre-season trade with Seattle with two second round draft picks for Alton Lister and two first round draft picks, provided consistent play from the pivot . . . Sidney Moncrief reached the 10,000 point plateau in front of a national television audience . . . Junior Bridgeman, one of the most popular players ever to don a Bucks uniform, returned to familiar surroundings on January 4 — has played in more games in a Bucks uniform (711) than any player in history . . . John Lucas was acquired in mid-January to plug a hole when injuries mounted and added leadership, stability, and some magical moments . . . club set an all-time attendance mark averaging an even 11,000 fans in 41 Arena dates, including 36 sellouts — only 2,145 seats went unsold the entire season while playing to .995% of capacity . . . shortly after the season Del Harris was named to replace Don Nelson as Head Coach.

Playoff Highlights: The Bucks drew longtime playoff nemesis Philadelphia in the First Round and it took five games and the homecourt advantage to defeat the 76ers for the second straight year in the playoffs, putting an end to any hexes that may have existed . . . game five vs. Philadelphia marked the final NBA game for Julius Erving . . . Moncrief returned to form vs. Boston and posted back-to-back games of 33 and 34 in the Eastern Conference Finals . . . still, that inspired play was not enough as the Bucks succumbed to the World Champions in a highly competitive seven-game series, 4-3.

Honors: Ricky Pierce — NBA Sixth Man Award.

1987-88

Record: 42-40 (Fourth, Central Division)

Playoff Record: Lost to Atlanta, First Round, 3-2

Regular Season Highlights: Milwaukee recorded its ninth straight winning season and 15th in the storied 20 year history of the franchise... the string of nine winning seasons ranks second only to that of the 1988 World Champion Los Angeles Lakers streak of 12... forty-two regular season wins leaves the club just eight victories shy of 1,000 career... the Bucks sport an awesome 992-648 (.605%) all-time record bettered only by the vaunted Boston Celtics... the 1987-88 season saw the curtain close on an incredibly successful run in the Milwaukee Arena... the Bucks posted their eighth straight season of 30+ home victories with an overall mark of 257-71 (.784%) over that span... the home success began with a season-opening 8-1 Arena record and concluded with a 19-5 run in the final 24 home games... Milwaukee was the only club to sweep the defending champion Lakers... on 12/4/87 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's string of 787 double figure scoring games was snapped — ironically, the last time Kareem failed to score in double digits was the first game of the 1977 season, also on the MECCA floor... Milwaukee was a very effective team from the charity stripe setting a new club standard with a .775% mark... the record was due in large part to Jack Sikma who became the tallest man in NBA history to win the NBA free throw title by shooting 92% from the line... a magnificent streak came to a halt as a 6-9 record in January ended the Bucks string of 52 consecutive months of .500% or better basketball... once again Milwaukee was one of the NBA's stronger defensive clubs allowing just 105.5 ppg and limiting opponents to 47% floor shooting... the team just missed establishing a team record for fewest turnovers — something they accomplished in each of the preceding four seasons... individually Coach Harris climbed to 42nd on the all-time NBA coaches winning list... Terry Cummings netted his 10,000th NBA point on 3/24/88 at Phoenix... Randy Breuer set new career season highs in eleven categories... Paul Pressey became the club's all-time leader in assists topping Brian Winters... before the season began the Bucks hosted and won the inaugural McDonald's Basketball Open... the event of worldwide proportions placed Milwaukee in the forefront of global sports affairs for a three-day period as the Soviet National Basketball team and the reigning European champions, Tracer Milan of Italy, played a three-team tournament... Junior Bridgeman was honored in mid-season by having his uniform (#2) retired... when the final buzzer sounded at 10:33 p.m. on 4/22/88, Milwaukee's NBA franchise concluded its most successful regular season at the gate — through 41 regular season games the Bucks drew a total of 452,057 fans to the Milwaukee Arena for an average of 11,026 and a percent of capacity figure of .998 which includes 38 of 41 sellouts and a string of 34 straight.

Playoff Highlights: Milwaukee qualified for the playoffs for the ninth consecutive season and 16th time in 20 years... Bucks lost to Atlanta in the fifth game of a five-game series at the Omni... loss marked the first time since the 1975-76 playoffs (when Detroit won the mini-series 2-1) that Milwaukee lost in the first round of the playoffs.

"THERE'S A NEW KID ON THE BLOCK"

The NBA will have a drastically different look for the 1988-89 season and it won't be due to the influx of new playing talent. Instead some of the focus will turn to the places NBA teams call home as no less than five new buildings will house NBA basketball. In addition to the excitement of the Bradley Center right here in Milwaukee, others with brand new homes in 1988-89 will be Sacramento (Arco Arena), Detroit (Palace of Auburn Hills), Charlotte (Charlotte Coliseum) and Miami (Miami Arena). Following is a list of all 25 NBA Arenas:
